GRAIN FACILITY BURNS - The wreckage of Milam Grain No. 2 warehouse still smolders hours after a pre-dawn fire destroyed the building and several million pounds of stored grain. Residents recalled another fire in nearly the same location 30 years ago, when a cotton oil mill burned, along with several other buildings in the downtown area.

Fire Destroys Milam Grain Warehouse

Area Units Called To 6-Alarmer

A pre-dawn fire Tuesday completely destroyed a Milam Grain Co. warehouse and feed mill on Cedar Street south of the Santa Fe railroad tracks.

The six-alarm fire was reported about 4:30 a.m. by a Cameron policeman on routine patrol.

All units of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department were rushed to the scene and units from Hearne, Rockdale and Rosebud helped local firemen in fighting the blaze.

Towering flames could be seen from miles away, and many residents thought the whole downtown area was burning when they were awakened by the sirens.

Robert Clark, one of the owners of the grain company, said early Tuesday that it was too soon to estimate the loss.

The warehouse contained several million pounds of grain left from last year's crop, Clark said. Some early grain harvested recently was also lost in the fire.

Clark assured producers who had brought grain to the company that all records had been saved. He said the grain elevator would continue to operate as soon as power was restored.

Burning cinders from the structure fell in a wide area around the fire, but firemen soaked dry grass and wood buildings nearby, preventing spread of the flames.

A thin pall of smoke from the still-smoldering remains hung over a wide area Wednesday morning as cleanup operations continued.

Salvage operations were hampered by intense heat and stubborn flames all day Tuesday and the fire department was recalled to the scene about 5:30 p.m.

Fire Chief Carl Black said cause of the fire is not known. The Tuesday fire was the first for the local grain company, which has facilities in two locations in Cameron.

Dutchman Wins Texas Friends

Sybre Miedema, of Baard, The Netherlands, is finding Texas "hot and big" but obviously enjoying every minute of his two-months visit in the state.

The 21-year-old college student is a guest of the Joe Glaser family in Buckholts, where he is studying the Glaser farm operation.

The Glasers are enthusiastic about their guest, who has won them with his willingness to help and his open, engaging disposition.

"His people are not lazy," Stanley Glaser said, "everytime I turn around, Sybre is there ready to help me. And everyone who meets him says 'wouldn't you like to keep him?'"

Sybre (pronounced see-bren) accompanied Glaser to Cameron Monday as guest of the Noon Lions Club and stopped for a brief visit at The Herald.

His course in farming requires spending three months abroad studying farm operations. Arrangements for the visit to Texas were aided by a fellow countryman in Temple.

During his stay at the Buckholts farm, Sybre has visited hatcheries at Bryan and other local agricultural operations. He said he was most impressed with Dr. R. M. Titworth's swine program.

Visits are planned to the Elm Creek Dairy Farm and Alcoa's Rockdale Works.

In accented English, Sybre told of the 90-acre dairy farm his family owns, and said it was a "good farm there," adding that The Netherlands has about 850 people per square mile.

He is the oldest of nine children and is in his third year of college.

Glaser said Sybre joins in all work on the Buckholts farm. "We make him wear a hat to keep from burning," Glaser said, "especially since we started the grain harvest." Sybre is blond, with green eyes and fair skin beginning to tan.

He said top temperature at home is about 80 degrees but extremely high humidity makes it hotter than Texas. Most of

The Netherlands is below sea level since the land is being reclaimed from the sea.

After sea water is pumped from the land it is flooded with fresh water to remove the salt. The Miedema farm is about 30 miles inland.

Asked how he liked Texas food, Sybre smiled and said "I was afraid at first that I wouldn't like it, but I do - it is real good." Glaser jokingly said Sybre was gaining weight.

In about four weeks he will leave for South Dakota, for a visit there before returning home. The Glasers are hoping Sybre will come back when he finishes school, for as Stanley said, "we would like to keep him."

Headstart Ends Friday

The closing program for the Summer Headstart program will be held 8:30 p.m. Friday, July 31, in the Ben Milam Cafeteria. The program will be sponsored and directed by the Cameron Neighborhood Youth Corps workers.

A series of songs by the different classes will be presented. All parents and interested people are invited to attend.

BHS ANNUALS

The 1970 Buckholts High School annuals may be picked up at the school office at 9 a.m. on weekdays, Supt. Leon Brady announced.

1st Grade Roundup Wednesday

"Round up" day for first grade students will be held on Wednesday, August 5 at Ben Milam elementary school.

All children who will be six years old on or before September 1, 1970 and who were not registered during the spring round up in May, should be registered on Wednesday.

Hours will be from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 until 4 p.m., according to Arnett Zelisko, elementary principal.

All first graders must show evidence (certificate from a doctor) of smallpox vaccination, polio and diphtheria immunization, and tuberculin skin test. "It is very important that first graders register Wednesday so that enrollment on the first day of school will not be delayed," Zelisko said.

Richardson Joins All-Star Lineup

Ronnie Richardson, Cameron's two-time Yoeman Player of the Year, leaves for Houston this week to start training for the High School Coaches All-Star game set for August 6 in the Astro dome.

The 6-foot 1, 220-pound Yoe lineman, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Richardson of Cameron, is one of only four players from Class AA schools in the southern half of Texas elected to the all-star team.

"Richardson may well be the best interior lineman in the history of Yoe High School," Yoeman head coach Hal Stanislaw said, "and Yoe has had some good ones through the years."

Richardson was a two-way starter on both offense and defense throughout his sophomore, junior, and senior seasons on the Yoeman squad. He was voted best Class AA player in Central Texas by the Waco Times Herald last fall at the end of his senior season.

He was an All-District choice for three years and won All-Central Texas honors after his junior and senior seasons. As a sophomore he was a starter on the Yoemen's district championship team.

RONNIE RICHARDSON

Ronnie's 94.0 scholastic average placed him among the top ten 1970 Yoe graduates. He was named Yoe High's outstanding math and science student, and was a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Council, and president of the Interact Club.

Reservation applications for the All-Star game, set for 8 p.m., may be obtained locally from L. W. Stroup Jr.

Richardson is the third Yoeman in recent years to win a place on the star team. Mack McKinney and Mike Perrin were elected in 1965 and 1964, respectively.

Yoe Band To Begin Rehearsals

Summer rehearsals of the Yoe High School Band will start Monday, August 3 at 6 p.m. in the band hall and will be held daily, Mondays through Fridays from 6 until 8 p.m.

Dalton Harbers, new school band director, said marching drills may begin during the second week of rehearsals, depending on results of preliminary work.

All other music instruction including Junior High and beginners band will start in conjunction with the opening of school.

Estimated size of the 1970-71 Yoe High Band is 116 members, however, because of the limited number of uniforms available the marching band will be limited to 104 members.

Some students will serve as alternates in reserve during marching season, Harbers said, and will be fully reinstated into the performing band after marching season.

Band director Harbers will base his selection of students in the performing band on: regular attendance at summer rehearsals (except on valid excuse from the director); and ability in playing and marching determined by rehearsal and drill performance and auditions at the end of August.

College Bound?

The Herald's Back to School edition will be published Monday, August 3. If you are planning to attend college this fall, or know a college-bound student from this area, let The Herald know by Friday so that your name will be included in the list of those who will be enrolling for classes in September.

Lions Add $1,043 Clubs See W-L Promise

Cameron Lions Club raised $1,043 Saturday in an auction that will benefit beautification plans for Wilson - Ledbetter Park.

Recent drives for park improvement recalled early efforts to make a park out of a 25 acre tract given to the city for that purpose by Mrs. Lizzie B. Wilson.

J. T. Parma said the park was first used as a camping ground by motorists in the early days of auto travel. Their use of the property paved the way for the first club sponsored support with the Cameron Commercial Club providing funds for the first park signs in 1922.

Commercial Club members at that time who are still living in Cameron include Oxsheer Smith, Leland Green Sr., Roy Griffith and Parma.

"In 1922 tourist travel was in its infancy," Parma said. "The park looked like a pasture, but there were no motels then and tourists arriving in town late and looking for a camp ground to spend the night would be directed to Wilson-Ledbetter."

That was the year Parma was appointed chairman of the Good Roads Committee for the Cameron Commercial Club. He was also a member of the Motor League of South Texas and through that association, motorists traveling north through Houston were directed to contact him at Cameron for information about routing westward.

"The highways were dirt, gravel, sand and some only cow trails and tourists knew very little about Cameron and its surroundings," Parma recalled. "But as an instigator of the tourist park here, I impressed travelers that they would find the shortest route via Cameron from Houston to Colorado Springs."

The Cameron park proved a disappointment to some of these early travelers and an adventure to others. There was no sign, no lights, no water and no restrooms, but Parma assured the visitors that before they returned improvements would be made.

One of these visitors was a wealthy New Yorker who had shipped his auto by boat to Galveston intending to make an overland tour and visit ranches in

To See A 'Twaining'?

Time was, not many months ago, when industry courted a doctorate holder. Time was a master's degree meant immediate employment at a higher salary. Time was when corporations and government rushed the college graduate.

Times change. The public school system will benefit when research people and technical people seek teacher employment where, in the long run, they serve best.

Frustration is great for college grads, regardless of degree, when they find advances come less often after the first few years of high salary for little experience.

These have been the days of beginner premium, but they are ending. Quality of teacher will reflect recycling of higher degrees into our massive public education system. In this case, the downward press will heighten performance as teacher salaries improve.

It may be a sign that money indeed is not everything, that performance is something and that somewhere quality in both will serve the vastly changing needs of technical and academic education.

Will we see such a "training"?

U. S. House Going 'Public' ...

We are seeing the U. S. House going "public."

The "teller vote", a Congressional institution, is about to end. The "why" is in statements to the press from co-sponsors, a Democrat and a Republican.

QUOTE: We say whether they (young people) go to war. We regulate taxes. We legislate against crime. But we don't tell the people how we vote. The thing I don't understand is how the Congress has got away with it all these years. CLOSE. Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill (D-Mass).

QUOTE: It isn't just youth that lost its faith in Congress. The press shows its contempt. The executive branch seems to consider us sometimes an albatross. The taxpayers are up in arms. CLOSE. Rep. Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif).

Dating from the 1789, the teller vote is a means whereby Congressional members vote for or against an issue as they walk up center aisle in the House. This "voice vote" is not recorded. Only a total vote is recorded.

The U. S. House in "committee of a whole" votes this way on such major issues as the Anti-Ballistic Missile system, the Vietnam War, MIRV missiles and other major issues.

By historic comparison, the Senate takes most votes by roll call.

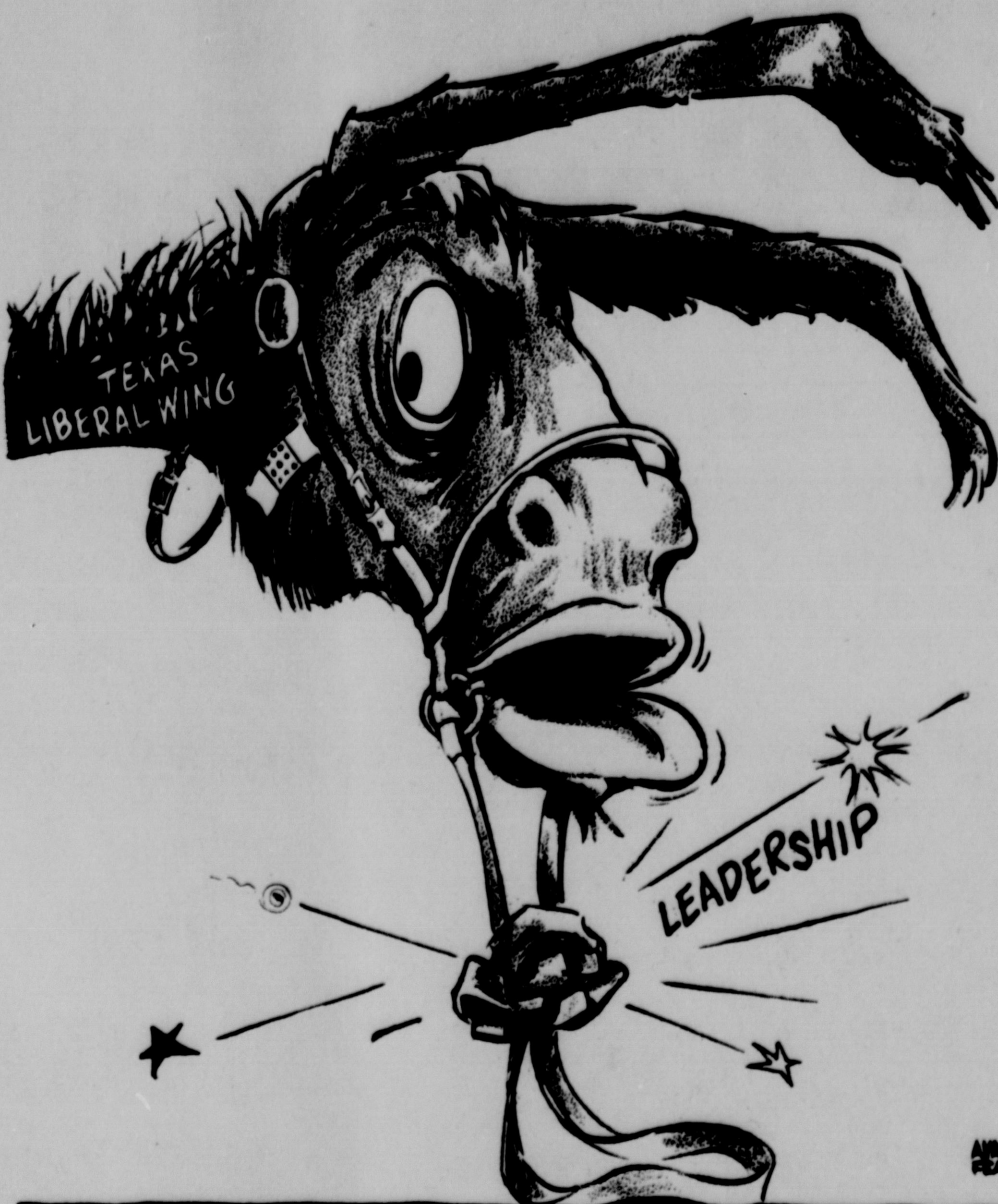

This reform legislation barely lost an effort to make all House committee meetings public, but it did achieve making committee votes public. And the "teller vote" reform is another step toward more public record of Congressional voting.

The "teller vote" saves time, probably one of the reasons it remained sacrosanct in modern government this long. But in the complex issues of the latter-20th Century, it is an albatross around Congressional actions, even when voting is circumspect.

This move to open Congress to more public view and put public votes on public record will contribute to a higher opinion of Legislative action in a period of trial for representative government.

$1 Million Remodeling Job Starts On Capitol

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

As fast as the state's major finance agencies moved out of the capitol into the new Finance Building, contractors' bids were opened for remodeling of the old quarters to the tune of more than $1 million.

Work soon will be underway on all floors of the capitol, including the basement. Senators will get private offices of at least 550 square feet each. Bulk of the new Senate space will come from quarters long occupied by the State Comptroller.

House members will have smaller offices -- but at least a private office -- in the old first-floor State Treasury quarters and the basement.

Senators plan new committee rooms, including one specially wired for sound and tv lights. Capitol station post office will make an early move into the new Finance Building, clearing the east entrance of the state-house for restoral to its original splendor.

ENROLLMENT LIMIT ASKED
Soaring public college enrollments prompted a request from the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System that each school give "immediate consideration" to the problem.

If voluntary curtailment does not result, Board officials indicated they will ask the Legislature for power to order mandatory ceilings. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion that the agency does not now have such authority. University of Texas system regents, meanwhile, approved a UT enrollment-control plan and a lottery system for use when units reach capacity.

Coordinating Board at its last meeting also placed the student loan program under federal loan insurance to guarantee repayments, advised expulsion of stu-

original act. There remains a balance of $733,000 in unused money from the original authorization, and this is expected to be sufficient to fund all necessary research programs in the new 3-year period. . . . Rep. Thomas M. Pelly (Wash.) " . . . I rise to join the distinguished chairman of the Fisheries and Wildlife Conservation Subcommittee, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) in support of H.R. 12943 a bill to extend the jellyfish control program for an additional 3 years."

"Basically it was designed to authorize $2.25 million for a 3-year research program into the problem of the stinging jellyfish--also known as sea nettles--and it includes the more toxic Portuguese man-of-war."

"To some extent the bill may be a misnomer, since it would also provide Federal aid for research into other forms of noxious marine pests, including undesirable forms of aquatic plants, such as algae and floating seaweed."

"I am especially happy to note that this new bill to extend the act another 3 years does not require any more Federal funds than those already authorized under the

dents who are involved in campus disruptions, and directed studies of free credit exchange among all public institutions and possible elimination of unnecessary college courses.

INTEGRATION PRESSED

Federal negotiators conferring with representatives of Texas school districts found 48 not in compliance with desegregation provisions of the 1964 civil rights act.

Sessions are seen as a last-ditch effort to get voluntary integration without a massive lawsuit by the U. S. Justice Department demanding immediate compliance.

Negotiators included three teams representing the civil rights division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, plus Justice Department Washington headquarters and Dallas regional office.

Texas Education Agency has contacted all 48 districts following receipt of a letter from the Justice Department asking TEA's help in ending school segregation.

School districts were limited to a maximum of three on their negotiating teams -- preferably the board president, superintendent and school attorney or board vice-president or another board member.

Federal teams limited each district to one-hour hearings. Any agreement, if not worked out in that time, will be communicated to HEW as soon as possible after local board discussions.

Each district was requested to bring copies of its own desegregation plans to the Austin meetings.

COURTS SPEAK

Third Court of Civil Appeals voided incorporation of West Lake Hills (an Austin suburb), holding that a city cannot incorporate solely to escape annexation and taxes of a neighboring city.

Supreme Court held that the State Board of Medical Examiners could not revoke the license of a Galveston pathologist for failing to keep records of medication administered to himself and his family.

Reversing an Abilene domestic relations court ruling, the High Court directed that custody of four children be taken from the mother and given to the father.

Court of Criminal Appeals said the co-defendant in a case cannot be called as a witness against another unless he previously agreed to testify.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

We are not about to debate the merits of extending the Jellyfish control Act. The phrase that caught our eye was, "$733,000 IN UNUSED MONEY."

We quote direct from the Congressional Record, "The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Michigan that the House suspend the rules and pass bill H.R. 12943. The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed."

The $733,000 will no longer be UNUSED MONEY. J.C.

WAR ON TAXES

Texas Manufacturers Association has declared war on additional state taxes and set up a special department to keep an eye on state spending.

Alarmed by reports that the 1971 tax bill may go as high as $700 million, TMA President Ed C. Burris said its organization is going to do everything in its power to prevent any kind of increase.

TMA, said Burris, also will be on guard against long range spending programs, with increases automatically built into state law.

Carl H. Braubach, a budget analyst under former Gov. John Connally, and one time Legislative Budget Board staffer John A. Haddad will head a research project on keeping government spending within revenues. Offices will be located in Austin near the capitol.

Bush: 'Rural Migration A Problem'

Congressman George Bush said last week that he is concerned that a continuation of the trend of migration from the rural areas will result in "a magnification of the problems of pollution, high crime incidence and racial strife which are most prominent in the high population concentration urban areas."

Bush, candidate for the U. S. Senate, said that steps must be taken to reverse this trend.

"The Rural Job Development Act, which I first introduced in July, 1968, provides for tax incentives for industries locating in rural areas with low employment opportunities," he said, "I reintroduced this legislation in the first session of the 91st Congress and have continued to push for its passage."

"I am highly encouraged that public awareness of this issue has been aroused, and I am hopeful that positive action will soon follow in the Congress. "It is not enough merely to get people out of the cities and into the rural areas. To do no more than this would be merely spread the problems out to areas not now affected. Foresight and planning for the influx of these areas must be given if we are to avoid the same thing from happening in these areas as happened in the urban areas when this migration began."

"We must assure that the local government has the expertise and support to provide for rural development which will solve these problems and not merely create new and perhaps greater ones."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I was temporarily out of newspapers again yesterday and got to thinking about what I was thinking about last week and decided there's no use in Frenchmen making all the money out of women's fashions.

I may have missed some of the details, but as I understand it the dress designers' main problem is deciding how long a skirt ought to be, and after year's of practice they've found it ought to get shorter or longer every year or so, never stay the same. Also, they've found there's more money in coming down than going up, as any woman can shorten last year's dress but few can lengthen it.

Right now, according to what I've read, the hemlines are coming down, which means of course new wardrobes for everybody. But the big question is, just how long should they be? You drop from the thighs to the ankles in one year and there's no way to go next year but up, and women will get out their scissors instead of their purses. No money in that. Hemlines should come down gradually over the next few years if you want to guarantee an idea I'd like to sell to the dress designers.

There's no use in their guessing what length ought to be high fashion. Say for example they decide hemlines ought to come down 8 inches this year. Just by looking, few can tell whether it's actually 8. It could be 10 or 6, and no woman could be absolutely certain she was in style. To avoid all doubt, style ought to be an exact science.

What the designers ought to do is sew a tape measure down the side of every dress made for the new season. Whack off every dress at say the 24-inch mark. Any woman who can read figures would then know whether she's in style. At a party, all she'd have to do is glance around to tell who's in style and who's out. Next year, drop it to 26 inches, 28 the next, etc. When they've run out of tape measure they know it's time to start back up again.

I intend to patent this idea but I'm afraid to come to town now to see about it. Some women don't have a sense of humor.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tax Free Dollars

Your neighbor carelessly backs his car into your fence, causing $200 worth of damage. Acknowledging his fault, he hands you a check for $200. Do you have to pay income tax on this amount?

No, because it is not really "income" at all. The money merely makes you "come out even."

Now, suppose he refuses to pay and you have to sue him for the money. Then, too, if you win the $200, it is tax free. Again, it simply makes you come out even.

This principle has wide application, notably in personal injury cases. Accident victims sometimes win verdicts involving large sums of money. To the extent that the money is compensation for their injuries, it is not subject to income tax.

In fact, the injury need not even be physical at all. In one case, a man won $100,000 for defamation of character. The government tried to collect income tax on this sum, but a court ruled that it was not taxable. The court said the purpose of the money was just to "make the plaintiff whole."

And in another case, the money that a girl won in a breach of promise suit was likewise held not taxable, since it was compensating her only for the harm she had suffered.

However a verdict may also include "punitive" damages, imposed not to compensate for the plaintiff's injury but to punish the defendant for his wrongful conduct. On this portion of the verdict, a tax may indeed be collected.

For example: In another defamation case, the plaintiff won $1,000--$650 for the damage done to his reputation, and $350 to teach the defendant a lesson. The $650 was held tax free, but the plaintiff did have to pay income tax on the $350. This was considered income because, in spite of the harm he had suffered, he came out $350 richer than he had been before.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

ASKS $733,000 FOR

JELLYFISH RESEARCH

Rep. John D. Dingell (Mich.) " . . . The purpose of H.R. 12943 is to extend for an additional 3 years the program to provide for the control or elimination of jellyfish and other such pests in the coastal waters of the United States."

"The need for this legislation arises from the fact that thousands of vacationers are being robbed of water-recreational opportunities and hundreds of businessmen are being deprived of untold revenues because of the large presence of jellyfish--sometimes known as Portuguese man-of-war in our coastal bays and estuaries. Unfortunately there is no known method of controlling these pests and their invasion each year affects a large segment of our economy and population. . . ."

Rep. H.R. Gross (Iowa) "But once the research is carried out and means of control are found, I would assume that the bordering States will then take over, as well as the boat-owners who like to jump off the rear ends of their boats and swim in the Chesapeake Bay, for instance. Will they be expected to contribute to the elimination of the sting rays, the jellyfish, and what have you?"

Rep. Dingell: "It is hoped that when we finally evolve

some control devices, we might be able to come forward with something of this kind."

Rep. Gross: "I would hope that . . . the taxpayers of Iowa would not have to take care of the beaches of Maryland and Lake Michigan."

Rep. Edward A. Garmatz (Md.) " . . . My bill H.R. 12943, proposes to extend the so-called Jellyfish Act--or Public Law 89-720 for another 3 years."

"Basically it was designed to authorize $2.25 million for a 3-year research program into the problem of the stinging jellyfish--also known as sea nettles--and it includes the more toxic Portuguese man-of-war."

Moisture Delays Grain Harvest

By J. D. Moore

County grain sorghum harvest was delayed due to high grain moisture last week. Farmers are urged to delay grain sorghum harvest until the grain is dry to prevent being "docked."

Local grain dealers say that farmers are taking their biggest loss by harvesting grain with too high moisture content.

Grain sorghum variety test cut July 21 and 22. The grain sorghum variety test on the Frank Kratochvil and Ed Jekel farms have been harvested.

The ACCO 1090 variety at the Kratochvil test was highest with an adjusted 4428 pounds of grain per acre. The 13 test varieties at the Kratochvil farm averaged 3944 pounds of grain per acre.

These yields were adjusted to 13% moisture.

At the Ed Jekel farm, Pioneer 846 topped all the Pioneer varieties with a yield of 5501 lbs of grain per acre, adjusted to 13% moisture.

The eight Pioneer varieties at the Jekel farm averaged 4755 lbs of grain per acre.

COTTON DEFOLIATION

There will be no changes in the 1970 chemicals to be used for cotton defoliation, according to Fred Elliott, cotton work specialist at A&M.

Most of the Milam County farmers use arsenic acid as a defoliant to prepare stripper cotton for harvest. Stalk destruction date deadline, to help control the pink bollworm remains November 30.

Hearing Set On Hog Lot Regulations

Commercial hog lots located near public flowing streams or surface water supplies will be placed under regulation in the near future by the Texas Water Quality Board.

Notice of public hearing has been published in 12 daily newspapers across the state. The hearing is set for 10 a.m., August 4, at the Terrace Motor Hotel in Austin.

Also, any swine producing operation may be required to comply with regulations if it is located over a sensitive groundwater area where seepage may cause contamination of wells or other water supply in the neighborhood.

Hog farms are subject to regulation if they cause a nuisance or appreciable damage to public waters in the state.

The regulation does not apply to small-farm hog producers unless they are endangering some public water supply. It is primarily written to cover units with 50 or more breeding animals. Five hundred pigs under 50 pounds would also be under regulation.

Anyone interested in receiving a copy of the proposed regulation can get one by writing to the Texas Water Quality Board, 1108 Lavaca, Austin, Texas 78701. All concerned are invited to write their comments to the Board, or to appear and testify at the hearing.

Committee Approves Farm Bill

The House Committee on Agriculture last week approved by a 27 to 6 vote H. R. 18546, a three-year general farm bill to replace the 1965 Food and Agriculture Act which expires at the end of this year.

Before taking final action on the legislation the Committee by voice vote adopted an amendment which would place a $55,000 limitation on the amount of price support payments which could be made on any one crop. Wheat, feed grains and cotton are involved.

Committee Chairman W. R. Poage, who jointly sponsored the bill with Rep. Page Belcher, the ranking minority member of the Committee, read to his colleagues a letter he had just received from Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin expressing his support for the $55,000 limitation.

The Chairman also pointed to information received during the morning from the Department of Agriculture disclosing that based on 1969 payments, only two farmers in the entire United States would have qualified for the top $55,000 payment for all three crops. Only 37 would have qualified for top payments under two of the crops.

While there had been strong opposition by many committee members to any payment limitations when the farm bill studies began, the majority gradually became convinced that adoption of some degree of limitations was inevitable when the legislation goes to the House Floor, where, on two previous occasions limitations have been voted by the House and once by the Senate.

House action on the farm bill possibly may come this week said Congressman Poage, who observed it must first be cleared by the House Rules Committee.

Seedless Melons For Easy Eating

AUSTIN
 All the work has been taken out of eating watermelon this summer with the introduction of two new seedless varieties recently announced by Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White.

Seedless watermelons are rapidly gaining favor with consumers because of the extra-sweet and flavorful quality of the melons. The fruit is medium-sized, with a good textured, sweet meat. As in other "seedless" fruits, the undeveloped seeds are there but are edible, actually tasteless. An added advantage of this melon is an extended shelf life.

The chemical "Colchicine," discovered in 1937 by Dr. O. J. Elgisi, is responsible for the genetic change that produces a seedless melon such as the two new varieties, "Tri-X 313" and "Supersweet." It has only been until recently that seedless melons have been developed which are consistent in quality and which can be commercially produced and marketed.

The seedless melons are found in food stores and cafeterias promoted in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) program of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Commissioner White said Department of Agriculture marketing specialists anticipate a strong consumer reception.

State Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale has been selected to receive the 1970 Distinguished Service Award of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas.

This award will be presented at the Annual Awards Breakfast at 7 a.m., Wednesday, August 5, in the ballroom of the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

Kubiak is a former member of the Future Farmers of America and has maintained a strong interest in this and other youth organizations for many years.

'Set-Aside' Acreage In Committee Approved Bill

WASHINGTON

The House Committee on Agriculture agreed Tuesday on terms of a bill to be introduced authorizing a new three-year farm program for dairy, wool, wheat, feed grain and cotton producers. It applies to 1971, 1972 and 1973 crops.

Designated the "Agricultural Act of 1970," the new farm measure would become effective on the expiration of the existing "Food and Agriculture Act of 1965," at the end of this year.

Differing from the present law principally in that it establishes an acreage "set-aside" requirement to keep production in approximate line with consumption, the new program would cost about the same as the 1965 Act, a little over $3 billion a year.

Bipartisan efforts marked consideration of this legislation. Committee Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., and Rep. Page Belcher, R-Okla., ranking minority member of the committee, will jointly introduce a bill embodying the provisions in the draft just agreed upon today.

Generally, under the 1965 Act, a grain or cotton producer, to comply with the program and thus become eligible for payments, must limit his production to an allotted number of acres, lest he be subject either to penalties or be denied the benefits of the program. Under the Agricultural Act of 1970 there would be no marketing quota penalties but a producer would be required to "set-aside" or divert acreage equal to a fixed percentage of his acreage allotment, if he complies he then is eligible for loans and payments based on the estimated yield of his allotted acres, and additionally he may plant the remainder of his farm in any crop he chooses for sale at market prices, without any supplemental payments.

Another change in the proposed program from the present law pertains to implementation of the parity formula which is designed to give producers a fair return for their investment in time, labor and money — a return commensurate with the cost of the items that go into production and living expenses for farmers.

While the parity concept is retained, only in the wheat program would payments continue to increase or decrease as the general cost of production rises or falls. In the case of feed grain and cotton parity is still recognized but supports are tied to specific dollars and cents figures except in regard to non-recourse grain loans which will still be some percent of parity.

Under the provisions relating to feed grains, producers would be guaranteed a minimum payment of 32 cents per bushel for corn (with comparable rates for grain sorghums and barley) on fifty percent of their historic acreage regardless of the market price during the three year life of the Act. Likewise, during this period cotton growers would receive a guaranteed 15-cent-a-pound payment on their share of the production from a base of 11,500,000 acres. Additional payments would be made if necessary to assure an overall return of $1.35 per bushel for corn and 35 cents a pound on cotton.

Chairman Poage, commenting on this matter, said: "As one who has always been strongly opposed to limitations, and who still feels that they are unfair, costly and will impair the effectiveness of any farm program, I am accepting them now because I know we cannot get a bill passed without them. I think this demand for limitations springs from a misunderstanding of farm problems and farm programs."

"Our committee recognizes that a great many members of this House feel that they simply must vote for limitations. We want these members to have this opportunity, and at the same time be able to vote for a level of limitations high enough that the set-aside program can function."

"We want to provide an effective means whereby all members of the House may get on the record on this issue, and that is why we plan to offer a committee amendment providing limitations, and have it available for a separate record vote."

During the hearings on the legislation the committee received testimony from all the major farm organizations and many smaller ones, from those with broad agricultural interests and those representing specific commodities.

While wheat, feed grains and cotton are the principal commodities involved, the bill also extends the Wool Act, continuing the present incentive price of 72 cents per pound for shorn wool and 80.2 cents per pound for mohair. It contains provisions extending and amending the authority for the Dairymen's Class I Base Plan in federal marketing order areas, specifically guaranteeing competitive access to Class I Base Plan markets established by producers outside the market order area. It suspends the operation of the mandatory butterfat price support program for farm - separated cream and permits the Secretary to set lower support prices on butter. The Secretary's authority to make indemnity payments to dairy farmers who through no fault of their own have their milk contaminated by and condemned because of the presence of pesticides and residues is also extended. Another part of the bill extends the law (P. L. 480) authorizing donations and sales of farm commodities to foreign nations on long-term arrangements, to so-called Food for Peace Program.

It was brought out during hearings that in the event the 1965 Act should expire without a new measure being enacted, the basic 1938 and 1949 Acts, as amended, automatically would once again become effective. Acreage allotments and marketing quotas would go back into effect on wheat and cotton. Commodity payments would end on feed grains, wheat, cotton and wool.

Price support would be provided only through non-recourse loans and purchases by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Farm income would crop substantially.

Tobacco, sugar and rice programs are authorized under legislation dealing with those commodities separately and are not substantially affected by the measure the committee has just approved.

The committee earlier had agreed to separate the Food Stamp program from the agricultural provisions, so that it may be brought up in a bill by itself for consideration after the farm bill is passed.

A summary of the newly-approved legislation, with Title I language relating to payment limitations omitted may be obtained on request by writing to the Committee Clerk, Mrs. Christine S. Gallagher, House Committee on Agriculture, Room 1301 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

OCCUPATIONS OF MOTHERS

Occupations of working mothers are generally similar to those of all women workers. Among every 100 working mothers with husband present, 32 are clerical workers, 21 service workers, 18 factory operatives, 14 professional workers, 7 sales workers, and 8 in other occupations.

SCS NEWS

Cooperators and landowners who plan to use 245-T for brush or weed control should take precautions before and when using this chemical.

Federal registration for use of 245-T has been cancelled for use on non-agricultural land. Use of this chemical for control of brush or weeds on pastureland or rights-of-way on agricultural land is not eliminated.

Landowners should follow all restrictions and regulations when controlling brush or weeds with 245-T.

Kerosene will usually kill all above ground growth of mesquite. The mesquite has underground buds to a depth of 4 to 6 inches below the surface. The underground buds must be killed or resprout of mesquite will occur.

When treating mesquite with kerosene it would be more effective if 245-T was mixed with it.

Brush to be treated with chemicals should be in full leaf stage with the temperature at least 80 degrees or above for the best results.

Additional information on the use of chemicals for brush and weed control is available through your local Soil Conservation Service office.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Worm and jig fishing have grown in popularity during the last several years, but there are many anglers who still like to use top-water lures for bass.

Today there is a lake especially built for topwater users. It is Amistad—created by a dam across the Rio Grande 18 miles north of Del Rio. There you can fish either in Texas or Old Mexico.

This is one of the fine new lakes which is a product of the International Boundary Commission.

Lose Lots of Lures

Much of the area cannot be fished with lures that run very deep. That is if you expect to get the lures back.

This lake covers thousands of acres of mesquite, catclaw, huisache and black brush, to say nothing of yucca, prickly pear and other tough vegetation. When you hang a lure in stuff like that it stays and you might as well forget it.

Amistad has come along fast as a bass lake. This mainly because at the lower end where Devil's River flows into it, there already were two older lakes—Walk Lake and Devil's Lake.

Both had been stocked with bass for years. When the new overlapping Lake Amistad formed, encompassing both of them, those bass were already man-size.

In addition, the Parks and Wildlife Department has been stocking Amistad ever since the dam was started and those bass are now catchable size.

Buoys Aid Boaters

Amistad also has other unusual features for a Texas impoundment. It is a lake where the previous stream beds all are marked with buoys. This makes it possible for a boater to keep on course either in going upstream on the main body of water or going downstream. Also, they help in locating and pinpointing good coves and inlets. Not only do these buoys mark the stream, but they also serve as boundary markers between the United States and Mexico.

Another feature of Amistad is its beautiful high-walled canyons in the upper reaches. Amistad now is only about two-thirds filled, but when it reaches conservation level, it will have some 300 feet of water around those canyon walls.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin, has announced postponement of the national wheat referendum previously scheduled for July 27 through 31. This action was authorized by Congress.

The postponement permits the USDA to delay holding the referendum not later than October 15, 1970, or 30 days after Congress adjourns, whichever date is earlier.

Accordingly, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's ASCS which administers the wheat, feed grain, and similar programs, has instructed its State and county offices across the nation to withhold ballots and other referendum materials.

Basic farm legislation requires a referendum for wheat marketing quotas. However, the Agricultural Act of 1965 suspended this referendum requirement from 1965 through the 1970 crop year.

Unless new farm legislation, now pending, is enacted by the Congress, basic legislation will again go into effect, and a referendum will then be required in 1970 for the 1971 crop years.

Since Del Rio is an old established town, its prices are in line with what you'd pay anywhere else. There are also several good guides available and good bass fishing boats.

Del Rio offers tourists more than just fishing in Amistad. There's also that international flavor. You can fish either in Texas or Old Mexico and go across the border for your night out. Ciudad Acuna is on the other side of the Rio Grande from Del Rio and it provides some of the best night spots along the entire Mexican border.

Information on Amistad and the other attractions can be had from the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, which offers free maps and motel lists.

Brunch Honors Bride Elect

Miss Brenda Watkins, bride-elect of Mr. Tommy Barton, was honored with a linen-kitchen brunch Saturday morning at the home of Miss Carolyn Mitchell. The honoree's chosen colors of white and yellow were carried out throughout the party rooms. A white and yellow arrangement centered the table, where cantaloupe and watermelon salad was served from a decorated watermelon shell. Finger sandwiches, mints and tea completed the refreshments.

Special guests were Mrs. William A. Watkins and Mrs. Clayton Barton, mothers of the bride-elect and prospective groom.

Assisting Miss Mitchell as hostesses were Mrs. Georgena Hillman, Mrs. Becky Crouch, and Miss Paula Folschinsky.

Bride-Elect Honored

Several pre-nuptial parties have honored Miss Sara Arthur in recent weeks, including a shower and a luncheon last week.

Miss Arthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arthur, is the bride-elect of David Barrett. Mrs. Jean Tumlinson and her daughter Miss Diann Tumlinson honored the bride-elect at an informal shower Saturday, July 18.

A brunch at the home of Mrs. Roy Hensley honored Miss Arthur on Wednesday, July 22.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. Gillis Graham, Mrs. Arnett Zelisko, Mrs. W. E. Kuehl and Mrs. J. A. Bowling.

An arrangement of summer flowers in the bride's chosen rainbow colors centered the serving table. Miss Ann Arthur, sister of the honoree, served the coffee and tea.

Shower Honors Miss Hanel

The conference room of The First National Bank was the setting Sunday afternoon for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Marilyn Hanel, bride-elect of Dwight Jekel.

Guests were registered by Miss Frances Zott and Miss Anita Litzman.

The bride-elect was assisted with gifts by Misses Carolyn Mitchell, Sandra Dusek, Lynn Litzman, Rita Hobizal, and Phyllis Hanel. Special guests were Mrs. Herman Hanel, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Conrad Jekel, Jr., mother of the prospective bridegroom, and Mrs. O. B. Powell and Mrs. Frank Hanel, grandmothers of the bride-elect.

The refreshment table was laid with a white and blue lace tablecloth with appointments of crystal and blue candles, the bride-elect's chosen colors.

Miss Margaret Zott served cake and punch to the guests. The hostesses, Mrs. Lawrence Zott, Mrs. H. J. Litzman Jr., Mrs. Joe Hobizal, Mrs. August Kunz, and Mrs. Alton Vybral presented the honoree with a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Hanel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hanel, and Mr. Jekel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Jekel Jr., will be married August 15 in St. Monica Catholic Church.

John Zarosky attended the KJT State Convention held July 20-22 at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio.

Globetrot With Rice

So much of today's entertaining centers around international party themes. And the perfect companion for so many dishes with foreign intrigue is rice. It's served in countries all around the world and it's a great go-with food.

For a rice dish with Mexican accents, you can simply cook rice with beef bouillon, onion, and chili accents. Just before serving toss it with diced avocado and pimiento.

The secret to the success of the dish is specially processed Uncle Ben's CONVERTED® Rice, which when cooked according to package directions results in perfect non-sticky rice every time you prepare it. The special process also assures you that you're getting twice the level of natural B vitamins.

Following is the recipe for Acapulco Rice, a great accompaniment to barbecued hamburgers, spit roasted beef or baked ham.

ACAPULCO RICE

1/2 cup chopped green onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 can beef bouillon plus water to make 2 1/2 cups liquid
1/4 teaspoon EACH chili powder and celery seed

1 cup UNCLE BEN'S CONVERTED® Rice
1 ripe avocado, peeled, pitted and cubed
1 jar (2 oz.) diced pimiento

Cook onions in melted butter in a saucepan until soft. Add bouillon and water and heat to boiling. Stir in chili powder, celery seed and rice. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender, about 25 minutes. Mix in avocado and pimiento. Serve hot.

Makes 6 servings.

Aqua Fest Featuring Czech Night

Czech Night, one of the two most popular AquaFest Nights in last year's Austin Aqua Festival, will take the spotlight on Saturday evening, August 15, Fiesta Gardens, Town Lake. The Austin Aqua Festival runs August 7 thru August 16.

According to the food and beverage consumption at last year's AquaFest Nights, the "Czechs" on Czech Night ate more than the "Germans" on German night, but the "Germans" drank more.

And, the Czechs are not to be outdone this year.

A variety of entertainment will be in store for all attending. The famous Texas Czech Band, Joe Patek of Shiner will furnish dance music throughout the evening until 1 a.m.

Danny Drozd of Houston will provide accordion music in the dining area.

The popular Taylor Czech Chorus and the Little Folk dancers also of Taylor all in costumes will be directed by Mrs. James Bartosh and assisted by Mrs. Alvin Kubala.

A unique attraction will be the Czech Folk Ballet dancers from Robstown, Texas under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Kneese. Other entertainment will include acrobatic water shows.

A complete Czech sausage dinner will be served beginning at 6 p.m. Kolaches, baked by Czech ladies will be available along with soft drinks and keg beer, located at several strategic locations.

Czech Night will again be sponsored by K. J. Z. T. #93 and K. J. T. #112 both of Austin.

General Chairman is John Migl, Co-Chairman is Mrs. LeRoy Kuback. Food arrangements are being made by Eugene Kutac. Entertainment - Mrs. James Friesenbahn, Finance - Edmund Havelka and Publicity, Mrs. Raymond Prasatik.

All attending are requested to come attired in Czech costumes if at all possible. Everyone is invited to an evening of fun.

Views From Candidates

Bentsen

Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic Nominee for the U. S. Senate, is urging the North Vietnamese Government to reveal the identity of American prisoners of war and to permit free exchange of mail between them and their families.

He wrote a letter to Ton Duc Thang, President of North Vietnam, after conferring in Dallas with Mrs. Robert D. Jeffrey and Mrs. Jerry A. Singleton, both of Dallas, and Mrs. Samuel R. Johnson of Plano.

Their husbands have been missing for more than four years and they expressed hope that North Vietnamese leaders might react favorably to American public opinion concerning prisoners of war.

Bentsen, a bomber pilot who was shot down over Yugoslavia during World War II, said he is deeply concerned about the prison conditions which American prisoners of war must endure. He also opposes any policy "which would result in our withdrawing from Vietnam before adequate provisions are made for liberating our prisoners of war."

He further stated in the letter: "Surely you can imagine the agony and distress, not to mention the personal problems, which have arisen among the wives, parents and children of these men -- men who can be of no further military value."

"These young women and innocent children should not have to bear the heartache of not even being sure their husbands and fathers are dead or alive. Surely you don't intend to burden these families with the uncertainty and heartbreak which accompanies their daily lives."

"Naturally, we in the United States hope and pray that current hostilities will soon be ended, that all prisoners of war will be released, and peace will prevail in Vietnam. Until that time I appeal to you to identify prisoners being held and to permit the free exchange of mail between families and prisoners."

More than 1500 American servicemen are missing in Southeast Asia and believed to be prisoners of war.

Campus disorder must be dealt with firmly.

In my view, violence in any form, in any degree, is not a legitimate expression of protest in our society. And it is particularly out of place in the colleges and universities that are supposed to be training young people to be informed, useful citizens.

I think that primary responsibility for handling campus unrest rests on the local rather than the federal level -- with the college and high school administrators who have a plain duty to enforce the regulations of their institutions. After all, the schools and colleges are not privileged sanctuaries outside the rest of society.

By failing to protect order, permissive faculties and administrators allow everyone's freedom to be destroyed. When violent minorities try to force their views on the majority, they should be expelled at once.

I don't think we need new federal laws cutting off funds or massive federal intervention to keep order. What we do need are administrators with intelligence and the fortitude to meet the problem head-on.

The reason for enforcing the rules is that the lawless few are violating a basic right of the law-abiding many -- the right to receive the education they are paying and working for. In my view, if an individual is getting federal funds to help him get educated, he should live within the laws of the state and of the university. I don't want our tax money financing revolutionaries.

I was one of 22 Congressmen who recently visited with students, faculty and administrators on more than 50 campuses around the country. We asked a lot of questions and we did a lot of hard listening. Six of us reported our findings directly to the President.

As a result of our visits, we were both alarmed and encouraged. Alarmed, because we found that the problem of campus disorder is far deeper and more urgent than most citizens realize. Encouraged, by the candor, sincerity, and basic decency of the vast majority of the students we met.

Many of them were surprised by the fact that we cared enough to come and talk with them. But we did discover that young people are certainly no different from older people in one important respect: they want to be in touch with the people whose decisions touch their lives.

In our state, I'm proud to say, I found the students I talked with especially open and earnest and intelligent. They want to improve their schools and their communities and the world they'll soon be working and living in. They want change, but the majority want constructive change, not destructive disorder.

There are many who have my view.

How very frightening is the implication that Texas' Welfare Budget of over two billion dollars is not really sufficient for the 1972-73 biennium!

There is clamor now to appropriate money "according to need" with no price tags attached....

This would, of course, require total and permanent removal of our constitutional limit on state funds for welfare use. While there is no way of predicting just where removal of the ceiling might lead us, a look at recent history in the matter gives us an indication.

The indication is not encouraging. Only last year we voted to raise the ceiling by a full thirty three and one-third percent and already the budget requests have more than doubled!

Ben Barnes told his Senate Interim Committee on Welfare Reform this week that its request for removal of the ceiling was "commendable" and he predicted that the Senate would vote to remove the ceiling, although he guessed the House still favors keeping aid on welfare.

I say "Hooray" for the House!

There has got to be a limit of some kind on welfare spending because there is a limit as to how generous our state and federal governments can be with our money -- yours and mine.

Without an effective limit there can be no effective control on welfare spending.

Lions

Texas and adjoining states.

"When he contacted me in Cameron he told of his disappointment at not finding the wild west he had expected. He had driven through miles of cultivated, rolling plains and prairies instead of the buffalo, Indian and cowboy land he had come to see," Parma suggested he keep traveling westward, "he might see some Indians in a circus sideshow."

The park sign was built in June 1922 after the Commercial Club appropriated $30 for materials. Roman Parma constructed the overhead entrance sign and J. T. Parma painted and lettered it.

"The sign brightened the park's future," Parma said. Citizens saw that the park could be used as recreation grounds."

In the 1930's the swimming pool was built and permanent buildings were constructed for local associations under a federal government program. Scout groups have had clean-up and beautification programs at their sites, but the Lions Club drive is the first major effort to be made for the Park since the Commercial Club's interest in 1922.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

...THE BAR OF JUSTICE IN MY COURT.

"Man must pay for the error he makes, the sin he commits... he must reap what he sows." Surely God tempers justice with mercy in His judgments upon us every day. It is that way too, in this judge's court, because he thinks principally of salvation for the man before him. Too often transgressors, both young and old, resent the kindly-intended judge. He sits in court to serve his country and the will of God. It would be well to remember that God shall bring every work into judgment. And that people who go to church more, go to court less.

Here I am, Buffy Davis of TV's "A Family Affair" waiting for the dancing class to begin. I don't think much of the boys they've got here, but I absolutely love my new dancing dress. It's by Cinderella and it's a red cotton velveteen with a smocked top and a dirndl skirt that swirls when I do the waltz. I like the little puffed sleeves, too, because they're so comfortable and I can move easily in them. My mom says I go to dancing class to learn how to be graceful, but, personally, I'd rather go swimming!

TSA Predicts 'Bloodbath' On 1980 Texas Highways

"Texas is headed for a bloodbath of unbelievable proportions on her streets and highways in the year 1980," Lloyd F. Palmer, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, said today.

Palmer, releasing a projection of current traffic crash trends into the next decade, said, "In the year 1980, more than 5,300 Texans will lose their lives and 330,000 others will be wounded in traffic crashes. The economic loss from these needless accidents will probably top $2.3 billion."

"These predictions need not come true if the right action is taken during the next 12 months. Any delay beyond that time can make these forecasts horrible realities. It took Texas 30 years to get into the shape she is in today, and instant improvement is impossible. We must start corrective action today if the 1980 bloodbath is to be avoided," warned Palmer.

The president of the statewide safety organization, George Wm. Perry, a Dallas attorney, called on every Texan to take a good look at the predictions.

"TSA is not 'Crying Wolf'; the predictions are on the conservative side," said Perry. He outlined a list of positive actions which can turn the tide from death to life.

Among the priority issues Perry emphasized was the removal of the problem drinker from the state's highways as recently stressed by Governor Smith at a meeting of his traffic safety committee of which Perry is a member.

The state safety leader pointed to a Texas study which showed more than 50 per cent of the fatal crashes studied involved intoxicated drivers.

"The Texas Safety Association is concerned about those persons who use drugs that impair reactions and drive," he said.

Perry said that these persons must be identified and be kept off the highways because of the dangers they present to themselves and to others.

The TSA president also said that education was important to cutting the bloodbath predictions. He said more moves must be made to insure that every driver in Texas is properly trained.

"High School Driver Education now reaches about 68 per cent of the eligible students in Texas," said Perry.

"It should be made available to every student. And education should not stop in high school. Adult driver re-education programs should also be instituted," according to the safety leader.

HIGHWAY USE TAX DUE BY AUGUST 31

Highway vehicle owners or operators were reminded today by the Internal Revenue Service of the deadline of August 31, 1970, for paying the Federal Use Tax on motor vehicles used on the public highways.

This tax applies to most trucks and buses in operation in July of this year and covers the tax year beginning July 1, according to R. L. Phinney, IRS District Director for southern Texas.

Rural families are moving into new or improved homes at a 17.4 per cent faster rate than a year ago. The Farmers Home Administration has announced that in the first nine months of fiscal 1970, the agency approved 43,748 home ownership loans totaling $465.4 million as against 37,277 loans totaling $360.7 million in the same period a year earlier.

On a nation wide basis, loans for new one-family homes under the rural program exceeded 25,000 through March, equaling the number approved for the entire fiscal year 1969. This is in contrast to a decline of 15.3 per cent in new home starts in the nation for the same nine-month period.

In Texas, rural housing loans made through the Farmers Home Administration during the previous fiscal year totaled approximately $36 million.

Turkey Barbecue Gives 'Leo' Chance To Shine

This summer follow the stars with a backyard barbecue. The month of August is in the Zodiacal sign of Leo and it is also the month for Texas Summertime Turkey, according to John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture.

Turkey is great on the grill or rotisserie and yet is an economical 1 meat due to little fat and no waste... offering delectable eating.

A noble and proud nature is characteristic of Leo the Lionhearted; thus, every outdoor chef takes pride in grilling the meat for his den members; so, let the "Leo" in you life grill Texas Turkey in His outdoor kitchen.

The majority of turkeys are sold frozen and fresh chilled, ranging anywhere from 8-24 pounds, though in some areas turkey parts such as legs, wings, and breasts, are also available. When buying whole ready-to-cook turkeys under 12 pounds, allow 3/4 - 1 lb. per serving; for larger birds allow 1 1/2 - 3/4 lb. per serving. A good tip to remember is, the larger the bird the more meat in proportion to bone; consequently the better buy.

In the event you do not have a rotisserie, turkey may be cooked on a grill (either bought or homemade)... use what is available!

Line bottom of grill with heavy foil for easier cleaning. Start the fire far enough in advance prior to cooking time. For faster starting use a No. 101 can (or any large can) with the top and bottom removed. Punch holes on sides one-inch above bottom of can. Place can in center of fire bowl and fill with briquettes and soak with charcoal lighting fluid.

Let soak one minute then ignite. When briquettes appear ash gray, simply remove can with pliers or tongs and spread hot coals evenly over cooking area. For extra smoke flavor use wood chips such as hickory, oak and apple that are pre-soaked in water to prevent burning.

There is no substitute for a meat thermometer; but the traditional doneness "test" by many experienced cooks is a "feel test." Turkey is done when the thickest part of the drum sticks feel very soft when pressed and move easily up and down as the joint readily gives or breaks.

Most turkeys sold at the retail level are young (3-6 months) and are suitable for dry heat cookery such as grilling.

The meat cookery principle - to use low moderate temperatures for best results - allies to outdoor meat cookery as well as indoors. Cooking time will vary depending on several factors: kind, size and shape of meat; temperature; equipment used; degrees of doneness; distance of meat from heat source.

For cooking turkey on the rotisserie insert spit rod lengthwise through center and secure and check the balance so spit will rotate smoothly. Brush with melted butter or fat to give pretty brown appearance and to prevent drying out. Follow manufacturer's directions for setting the temperature. Remember the longer and slower you cook the meat the juicier it will be.

Formal service is unimportant as long as the generous Leo feels he is getting the best. Harmony in Leo's homelife is essential for health as he needs a place to relax with friends. A Texas Turkey Barbecue offers fun and relaxing with friends and supports his manly ego as the "world's greatest outdoor chef."

TEXAS BARBECUE TURKEY Allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. of boneless meat per person to be served. Marinate turkey in "Western Barbecue Sauce" for 2 hours. About 30 minutes before you are ready to start cooking, light fire. When coals are ready, spread turkey breast on grill, skin-side up.

Grill should be 8 inches or more from hot coals. Barbecue for 30 minutes, then turn and cook for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with marinade. Turn again and continue barbecuing until done. Total time will be about 1 1/2 hours.

Remove turkey from grill and place in remaining marinade, which had been heated until hot, but not boiling. Cover with aluminum foil and let stand for 20 to 30 minutes. Remove from marinade and carve into thin slices. Arrange on serving plate and pour a little of the hot marinade over all.

The remaining marinade may be passed separately to spoon over turkey or rice, if desired.

TP&L To Conduct Transformer Count In Cameron Area

Texas Power & Light Company announced it will soon conduct a transformer inventory in the Cameron area.

TP&L crews will count, pinpoint exact locations, and record technical data on the transformers.

The transformers are usually located in alleys or other out-of-the-way areas.

Results of the inventory will be tabulated in the Company's data processing center at its Dallas headquarters for use by various departments of TP&L.

WESTERN BARBECUE SAUCE 2 tablespoons peanut oil, 1 small onion, minced, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1/2 cup wine vinegar, 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 can 6-oz. tomato paste, 1/4 teaspoon chili powder, 1/2 cup water (serves 6)

Fuchs Hold 1st Reunion

The first Fuchs family reunion was held Sunday, July 26 at Simon George Hall in Cameron.

Seventy-two attended the reunion of the descendants of Christopher Jr., Joe, John, Alois, Stephen and Anton FUCHS, Mrs. Ben Wilde and Mrs. Theo Schilling.

Cities represented included Corpus Christi, Ballinger, Lott, Westphalia, Burlington, Miles, Temple, Houston, Rowena, Winters, Hearne, Austin, and Cameron.

A barbecue chicken dinner was served to those present. The next Fuchs reunion will be held in two years at Westphalia.

Father Robert Fuchs from Hearne furnished old German music Sunday for the occasion.

President Richard M. Nixon
State of the Union Address, 1970

Some will be reared in urban areas, others in the country. It is hoped all will grow up in the spirit of self worth and freedom rather than in the spirit of despair. The environment — the world around us — is a key factor in their development. The future quality of life in America must be a vital concern to all Americans.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Alcoholism in the U.S.

Half of the 55,000 persons killed on our highways last year were victims of accidents involving alcohol, according to recent reports.

This figure serves to highlight the problem of alcoholism, a prime concern of many health agencies, including the National Institute of Mental Health, and a problem disease that numbers 4.7 million or more American adults as its victims.

A survey of American drinking practices, by George Washington University scientists supported by the NIMH, has come up with illuminating information. It shows, for example, that the drinking of alcoholic beverages is typical rather than unusual behavior in America.

Some 78 million adults drink at least once a year, or about 68 percent of the adult U.S. population which was 115 million in 1965. But the nearly 5 million who abuse alcohol to the point at which they can be called alcoholics make up the core problem.

They are men and women, young and old, educated as well as uneducated, city dwellers and small towners and country people. Judging by those who appear for help at hospitals and clinics, we know that the disease of alcoholism strikes across every class and category of people and respects no race, color, nor creed.

But there is great variety in the basic behavior of drinking, considered totally and not merely among alcoholics alone.

GRAIN FACILITY BURNS - The wreckage of Milam Grain No. 2 warehouse still smolders hours after a pre-dawn fire destroyed the building and several million pounds of stored grain. Residents recalled another fire in nearly the same location 30 years ago, when a cotton oil mill burned, along with several other buildings in the downtown area.

Fire Destroys Milam Grain Warehouse

Area Units Called To 6-Alarmer

A pre-dawn fire Tuesday completely destroyed a Milam Grain Co. warehouse and feed mill on Cedar Street south of the Santa Fe railroad tracks.

The six-alarm fire was reported about 4:30 a.m. by a Cameron policeman on routine patrol. All units of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department were rushed to the scene and units from Hearne, Rockdale and Rosebud helped local firemen in fighting the blaze.

Towering flames could be seen from miles away, and many residents thought the whole downtown area was burning when they were awakened by the sirens. Robert Clark, one of the owners of the grain company, said early Tuesday that it was too soon to estimate the loss.

The warehouse contained several million pounds of grain left from last year's crop, Clark said. Some early grain harvested recently was also lost in the fire.

Clark assured producers who had brought grain to the company that all records had been saved. He said the grain elevator would continue to operate as soon as power was restored.

Burning cinders from the structure fell in a wide area around the fire, but firemen soaked dry grass and wood buildings nearby, preventing spread of the flames.

A thin pall of smoke from the still-smoldering remains hung over a wide area Wednesday morning as cleanup operations continued.

Salvage operations were hampered by intense heat and stubborn flames all day Tuesday and the fire department was recalled to the scene about 5:30 p.m. Fire Chief Carl Black said cause of the fire is not known. The Tuesday fire was the first for the local grain company, which has facilities in two locations in Cameron.

Dutchman Wins Texas Friends

Sybrén Miedema, of Baard, The Netherlands, is finding Texas "hot and big" but obviously enjoying every minute of his two-months visit in the state.

The 21-year-old college student is a guest of the Joe Glaser family in Buckholts, where he is studying the Glaser farm operation.

The Glasers are enthusiastic about their guest, who has won them with his willingness to help and his open, engaging disposition.

"His people are not lazy," Stanley Glaser said, "everytime I turn around, Sybrén is there ready to help me. And everyone who meets him says 'wouldn't you like to keep him?'"

Sybrén (pronounced see-bren) accompanied Glaser to Cameron Monday as guest of the Noon Lions Club and stopped for a brief visit at The Herald.

His course in farming requires spending three months abroad studying farm operations. Arrangements for the visit to Texas were aided by a fellow countryman in Temple.

During his stay at the Buckholts farm, Sybrén has visited hatcheries at Bryan and other local agricultural operations. He said he was most impressed with Dr. R. M. Titworth's swine program.

Visits are planned to the Elm Creek Dairy Farm and Alcoa's Rockdale Works.

In accented English, Sybrén told of the 90-acre dairy farm his family owns, and said it was a "good farm there," adding that The Netherlands has about 850 people per square mile.

He is the oldest of nine children and is in his third year of college.

Glaser said Sybrén joins in all work on the Buckholts farm. "We make him wear a hat to keep from burning," Glaser said, "especially since we started the grain harvest." Sybrén is blond, with green eyes and fair skin beginning to tan.

He said top temperature at home is about 80 degrees but extremely high humidity makes it hotter than Texas. Most of

The Netherlands is below sea level since the land is being reclaimed from the sea.

After sea water is pumped from the land it is flooded with fresh water to remove the salt. The Miedema farm is about 30 miles inland.

Asked how he liked Texas food, Sybrén smiled and said "I was afraid at first that I wouldn't like it, but I do - it is real good," Glaser jokingly said Sybrén was gaining weight.

In about four weeks he will leave for South Dakota, for a visit there before returning home. The Glasers are hoping Sybrén will come back when he finishes school, for as Stanley said, "we would like to keep him."

Headstart Ends Friday

The closing program for the Summer Headstart program will be held 8:30 p.m. Friday, July 31, in the Ben Milam Cafeteria. The program will be sponsored and directed by the Cameron Neighborhood Youth Corps workers.

A series of songs by the different classes will be presented. All parents and interested people are invited to attend.

BHS ANNUALS

The 1970 Buckholts High School annuals will be picked up at the school office at 9 a.m. on weekdays, Supt. Leon Brady announced.

1st Grade Roundup Wednesday

"Round up" day for first grade students will be held on Wednesday, August 5 at Ben Milam elementary school.

All children who will be six years old on or before September 1, 1970 and who were not registered during the spring round up in May, should be registered on Wednesday.

Hours will be from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 until 4 p.m., according to Arnett Zelisko, elementary principal.

All first graders must show evidence (certificate from a doctor) of smallpox vaccination, polio and diphtheria immunization, and tuberculin skin test.

"It is very important that first graders register Wednesday so that enrollment on the first day of school will not be delayed," Zelisko said.

Richardson Joins All-Star Lineup

Ronnie Richardson, Cameron's two-time Yoeman Player of the Year, leaves for Houston this week to start training for the High School Coaches All-Star game set for August 6 in the Astrodome.

The 6-foot 1, 220-pound Yoe lineman, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Richardson of Cameron, is one of only four players from Class AA schools in the southern half of Texas elected to the all-star team.

"Richardson may well be the best interior lineman in the history of Yoe High School," Yoe-man head coach Hal Stanislaw said, "and Yoe has had some good ones through the years."

Richardson was a two-way starter on both offense and defense throughout his sophomore, junior, and senior seasons on the Yoeman squad. He was voted best Class AA player in Central Texas by the Waco Times Herald last fall at the end of his senior season.

He was an All-District choice for three years and won All-Central Texas honors after his junior and senior seasons. As a sophomore he was a starter on the Yoemen's district championship team.

RONNIE RICHARDSON

Ronnie's 94.0 scholastic average placed him among the top ten 1970 Yoe graduates. He was named Yoe High's outstanding math and science student, and was a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Council, and president of the Inter-act Club.

Reservation applications for the All-Star game, set for 8 p.m., may be obtained locally from L. W. Stroup Jr.

Richardson is the third Yoeman in recent years to win a place on the star team. Mack McKinney and Mike Perrin were elected in 1965 and 1964, respectively.

Yoe Band To Begin Rehearsals

Summer rehearsals of the Yoe High School Band will start Monday, August 3 at 6 p.m. in the band hall and will be held daily, Mondays through Fridays from 6 until 8 p.m.

Dalton Harbers, new school band director, said marching drills may begin during the second week of rehearsals, depending on results of preliminary work.

All other music instruction including Junior High and beginners band will start in conjunction with the opening of school.

Estimated size of the 1970-71 Yoe High Band is 116 members, however, because of the limited number of uniforms available the marching band will be limited to 104 members.

Some students will serve as alternates in reserve during marching season, Harbers said, and will be fully reinstated into the performing band after marching season.

Band director Harbers will base his selection of students in the performing band on regular attendance at summer rehearsals (except on valid excuse from the director); and ability in playing and marching determined by rehearsal and drill performance and auditions at the end of August.

College Bound?

The Herald's Back to School edition will be published Monday, August 3. If you are planning to attend college this fall, or know a college-bound student from this area, let The Herald know by Friday so that your name will be included in the list of those who will be enrolling for classes in September.

Lions Add $1,043

Clubs See W-L Promise

Cameron Lions Club raised $1,043 Saturday in an auction that will benefit beautification plans for Wilson - Ledbetter Park.

Recent drives for park improvement recalled early efforts to make a park out of a 25 acre tract given to the city for that purpose by Mrs. Lizzie B. Wilson.

J. T. Parma said the park was first used as a camping ground by motorists in the early days of auto travel. Their use of the property paved the way for the first club sponsored support with the Cameron Commercial Club providing funds for the first park signs in 1922.

Commercial Club members at that time who are still living in Cameron include Oxsheer Smith, Leland Green Sr., Roy Griffith and Parma.

"In 1922 tourist travel was in its infancy," Parma said. "The park looked like a pasture, but there were no motels then and tourists arriving in town late and looking for a camp ground to spend the night would be directed to Wilson-Ledbetter."

That was the year Parma was appointed chairman of the Good Roads Committee for the Cameron Commercial Club. He was also a member of the Motor League of South Texas and through that association, motorists traveling north through Houston were directed to contact him at Cameron for information about routine westward.

"The highways were dirt, gravel, sand and some only cow trails and tourists knew very little about Cameron and its surroundings," Parma recalled. "But as an instigator of the tourist park here, I impressed travelers that they would find the shortest route via Cameron from Houston to Colorado Springs."

The Cameron park proved a disappointment to some of these early travelers and an adventure to others. There was no sign, no lights, no water and no restrooms, but Parma assured the visitors that before they returned improvements would be made.

One of these visitors was a wealthy New Yorker who had shipped his auto by boat to Galveston intending to make an overland tour and visit ranches in

To See A 'Twaining'?

Time was, not many months ago, when industry courted a doctorate holder. Time was a master's degree meant immediate employment at a higher salary. Time was when corporations and government rushed the college graduate.

Times change. The public school system will benefit when research people and technical people seek teacher employment where, in the long run, they serve best.

Frustration is great for college grads, regardless of degree, when they find advances come less often after the first few years of high salary for little experience.

These have been the days of beginner premium, but they are ending. Quality of teacher will reflect recycling of higher degrees into our massive public education system. In this case, the downward press will heighten performance as teacher salaries improve.

It may be a sign that money indeed is not everything, that performance is something and that somewhere quality in both will serve the vastly changing needs of technical and academic education.

Will we see such a "training"?

U. S. House Going 'Public' ...

We are seeing the U. S. House going "public."

The "teller vote", a Congressional institution, is about to end. The "why" is in statements to the press from co-sponsors, a Democrat and a Republican.

QUOTE: We say whether they (young people) go to war. We regulate taxes. We legislate against crime. But we don't tell the people how we vote. The thing I don't understand is how the Congress has got away with it all these years. CLOSE. Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill (D-Mass).

QUOTE: It isn't just youth that lost its faith in Congress. The press shows its contempt. The executive branch seems to consider us sometimes an albatross. The taxpayers are up in arms. CLOSE. Rep. Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif).

Dating from the 1789, the teller vote is a means whereby Congressional members vote for or against an issue as they walk up center aisle in the House. This "voice vote" is not recorded. Only a total vote is recorded.

The U. S. House in "committee of a whole" votes this way on such major issues as the Anti-Ballistic Missile system, the Vietnam War, MIRV missiles and other major issues.

By historic comparison, the Senate takes most votes by roll call.

This reform legislation barely lost an effort to make all House committee meetings public, but it did achieve making committee votes public. And the "teller vote" reform is another step toward more public record of Congressional voting.

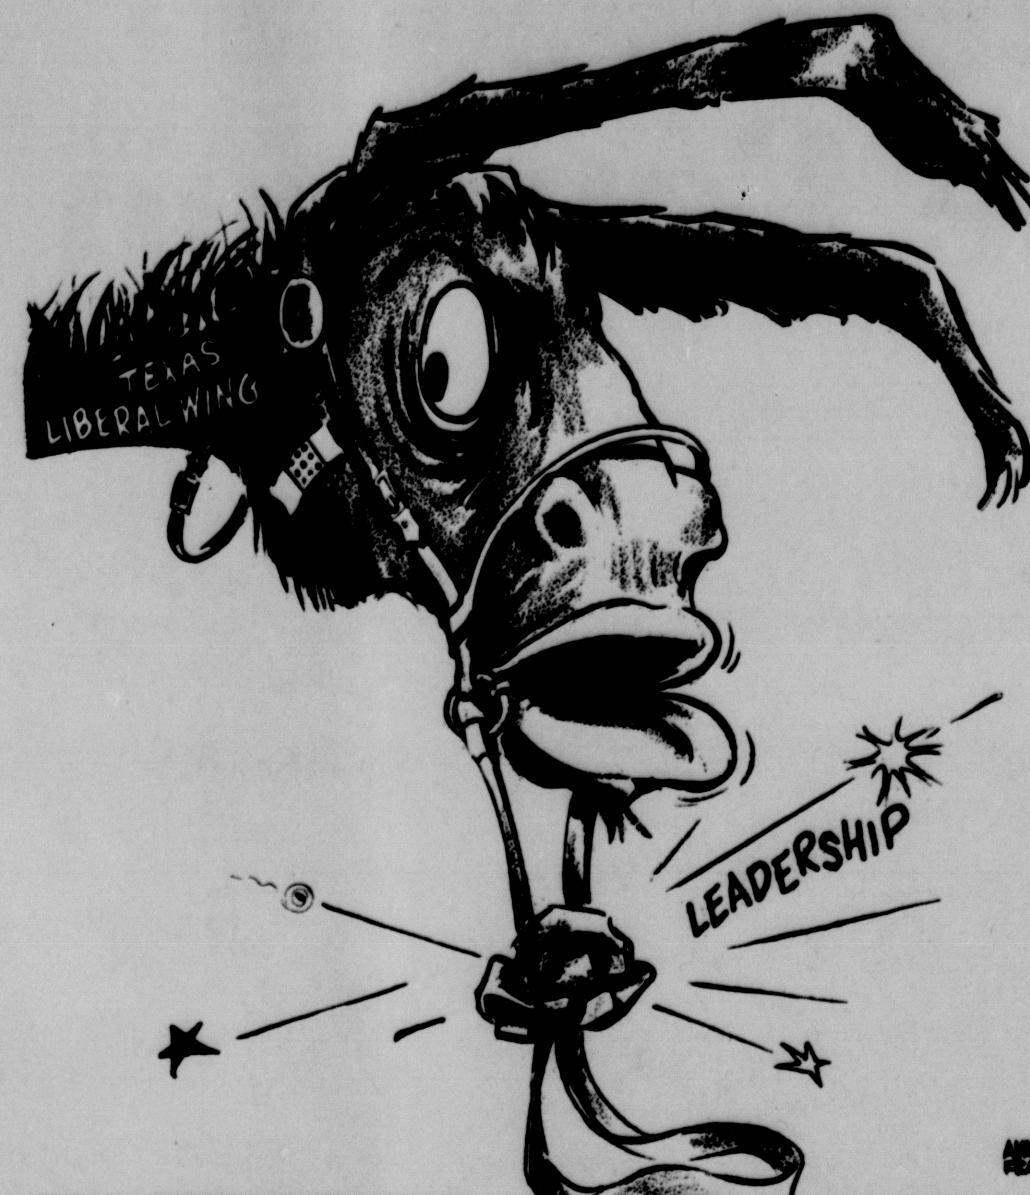

The "teller vote" saves time, probably one of the reasons it remained sacrosanct in modern government this long. But in the complex issues of the latter-20th Century, it is an albatross around Congressional actions, even when voting is circumspect.

This move to open Congress to more public view and put public votes on public record will contribute to a higher opinion of Legislative action

in a period of trial for representative government.

$1 Million Remodeling Job Starts On Capitol

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

As fast as the state's major finance agencies moved out of the capitol into the new Finance Building, contractors' bids were opened for remodeling of the old quarters to the tune of more than $1 million.

Work soon will be underway on all floors of the capitol, including the basement.

Senators will get private offices of at least 550 square feet each. Bulk of the new Senate space will come from quarters long occupied by the State Comptroller.

House members will have smaller offices -- but at least a private office -- in the old first-floor State Treasury quarters and the basement.

Senators plan new committee rooms, including one specially wired for sound and tv lights. Capitol station post office will make an early move into the new Finance Building, clearing the east entrance of the statehouse for restoral to its original splendor.

ENROLLMENT LIMIT ASKED
Soaring public college enrollments prompted a request from the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System that each school give "immediate consideration" to the problem.

If voluntary curtailment does not result, Board officials indicated they will ask the Legislature for power to order mandatory ceilings. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion that the agency does not now have such authority. University of Texas system regents, meanwhile, approved a UT enrollment-control plan and a lottery system for use when units reach capacity.

Coordinating Board at its last meeting also placed the student loan program under federal loan insurance to guarantee repayments, advised expulsion of stu-

original act. There remains a balance of $733,000 in unused money from the original authorization, and this is expected to be sufficient to fund all necessary research programs in the new 3-year period. . . .

Rep. Thomas M. Pelly (Wash.) " . . . I rise to join the distinguished chairman of the Fisheries and Wildlife Conservation Subcommittee, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) in support of H.R. 12943 a bill to extend the jellyfish control program for an additional 3 years. . . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

We are not about to debate the merits of extending the Jellyfish control Act. The phrase, that caught our eye was, "$733,000 IN UNUSED MONEY."

We quote direct from the Congressional Record, "The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Michigan that the House suspend the rules and pass bill H.R. 12943. The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed."

The $733,000 will no longer be UNUSED MONEY. -J.C.

dents who are involved in campus disruptions, and directed studies of free credit exchange among all public institutions and possible elimination of unnecessary college courses.

INTEGRATION PRESSED

Federal negotiators conferring with representatives of Texas school districts found 48 not in compliance with desegregation provisions of the 1964 civil rights act.

Sessions are seen as a last-ditch effort to get voluntary integration without a massive lawsuit by the U. S. Justice Department demanding immediate compliance.

Negotiators included three teams representing the civil rights division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, plus Justice Department Washington headquarters and Dallas regional office.

Texas Education Agency has contacted all 48 districts following receipt of a letter from the Justice Department asking TEA's help in ending school segregation.

School districts were limited to a maximum of three on their negotiating teams -- preferably the board president, superintendent and school attorney or board vice-president or another board member.

Federal teams limited each district to one-hour hearings. Any agreement, if not worked out in that time, will be communicated to HEW as soon as possible after local board discussions.

Each district was requested to bring copies of its own desegregation plans to the Austin meetings.

COURTS SPEAK

Third Court of Civil Appeals voided incorporation of West Lake Hills (an Austin suburb), holding that a city cannot incorporate solely to escape annexation and taxes of a neighboring city.

Supreme Court held that the State Board of Medical Examiners could not revoke the license of a Galveston pathologist for failing to keep records of medication administered to himself and his family.

Reversing an Abilene domestic relations court ruling, the High Court directed that custody of four children be taken from the mother and given to the father.

Court of Criminal Appeals said the co-defendant in a case cannot be called as a witness against another unless he previously agreed to testify.

WAR ON TAXES

Texas Manufacturers Association has declared war on additional state taxes and set up a special department to keep an eye on state spending.

Alarmed by reports that the 1971 tax bill may go as high as $700 million, TMA President Ed C. Burris said its organization is going to do everything in its power to prevent any kind of increase.

TMA, said Burris, also will be on guard against long range spending programs, with increases automatically built into state law.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I was temporarily out of newspapers again yesterday and got to thinking about what I was thinking about last week and decided there's no use in Frenchmen making all the money out of women's fashions.

I may have missed some of the details, but as I understand it the dress designers' main problem is deciding how long a skirt ought to be, and after year's of practice they've found it ought to get shorter or longer every year or so, never stay the same. Also, they've found there's more money in coming down than going up, as any woman can shorten last year's dress but few can lengthen it.

Right now, according to what I've read, the hemlines are coming down, which means of course new wardrobes for everybody. But the big question is, just how long should they be? You drop from the thighs to the ankles in one year and there's no way to go next year but up, and women will get out their scissors instead of their purses. No money in that. Hemlines should come down gradually over the next few years if you want to guarantee an idea I'd like to sell to the dress designers.

There's no use in their guessing what length ought to be high fashion. Say for example they decide hemlines ought to come down 8 inches this year. Just by looking, few can tell whether it's actually 8, it could be 10 or 6, and no woman could be absolutely certain she was in style. To avoid all doubt, style ought to be an exact science.

What the designers ought to do is sew a tape measure down the side of every dress made for the new season. Whack off every dress at say the 24-inch mark. Any woman who can read figures would then know whether she's in style. At a party, all she'd have to do is glance around to tell who's in style and who's out.

Next year, drop it to 26 inches, 28 the next, etc. When they've run out of tape measure they know it's time to start back up again.

I intend to patent this idea but I'm afraid to come to town now to see about it. Some women don't have a sense of humor.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tax Free Dollars

Your neighbor carelessly backs his car into your fence, causing $200 worth of damage. Acknowledging his fault, he hands you a check for $200. Do you have to pay income tax on this amount?

No, because it is not really "income" at all. The money merely makes you "come out even."

Now, suppose he refuses to pay and you have to sue him for the money. Then, too, if you win the $200, it is tax free. Again, it simply makes you come out even.

This principle has wide application, notably in personal injury cases. Accident victims sometimes win verdicts involving large sums of money. To the extent that the money is compensation for their injuries, it is not subject to income tax.

In fact, the injury need not even be physical at all. In one case, a man won $100,000 for defamation of character. The government tried to collect income tax on this sum, but a court ruled that it was not taxable. The court said the purpose of the money was just to "make the plaintiff whole."

And in another case, the money that a girl won in a breach of promise suit was likewise held not taxable, since it was compensating her only for the harm she had suffered.

However a verdict may also include "punitive" damages, imposed not to compensate for the plaintiff's injury but to punish the defendant for his wrongful conduct. On this portion of the verdict, a tax may indeed be collected.

For example: In another defamation case, the plaintiff won $1,000--$650 for the damage done to his reputation, and $350 to teach the defendant a lesson. The $650 was held tax free, but the plaintiff did have to pay income tax on the $350. This was considered income because, in spite of the harm he had suffered, he came out $350 richer than he had been before.

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

ASKS $733,000 FOR

JELLYFISH RESEARCH

Rep. John D. Dingell (Mich.) " . . . The purpose of H.R. 12943 is to extend for an additional 3 years the program to provide for the control or elimination of jellyfish and other such pests in the coastal waters of the United States."

"The need for this legislation arises from the fact that thousands of vacationers are being robbed of water-recreational opportunities and hundreds of businessmen are being deprived of untold revenues because of the large presence of jellyfish--sometimes known as Portuguese man-of-war in our coastal bays and estuaries. Unfortunately there is no known method of controlling these pests and their invasion each year affects a large segment of our economy and population. . . ."

Rep. H.R. Gross (Iowa) "But once the research is carried out and means of control are found, I would assume that the bordering States will then take over, as well as the boat-owners who like to jump off the rear ends of their boats and swim in the Chesapeake Bay, for instance. Will they be expected to contribute to the elimination of the sting rays, the jellyfish, and what have you?"

Rep. Dingell: "It is hoped that when we finally evolve

some control devices, we might be able to come forward with something of this kind. . . ."

Rep. Gross: "I would hope that . . . the taxpayers of Iowa would not have to take care of the beaches of Maryland and Lake Michigan. . . ."

Rep. Edward A. Garmatz (Md.) " . . . My bill H.R. 12943, proposes to extend the so-called Jellyfish Act--or Public Law 89-720 for another 3 years. . . ."

"Basically it was designed to authorize $3.25 million for a 3-year research program into the problem of the stinging jellyfish--also known as sea nettles--and it includes the more toxic Portuguese man-of-war."

"To some extent the bill may be a misnomer, since it would also provide Federal aid for research into other forms of noxious marine pests, including undesirable forms of aquatic plantlife, such as algae and floating seaweed. . . ."

"I am especially happy to note that this new bill to extend the act another 3 years does not require any more Federal funds than those already authorized under the

County Agent's Notes . . .

Moisture Delays Grain Harvest

By J. D. Moore

County grain sorghum harvest was delayed due to high grain moisture last week. Farmers are urged to delay grain sorghum harvest until the grain is dry to prevent being "docked."

Local grain dealers say that farmers are taking their biggest loss by harvesting grain with too high moisture content. Grain sorghum variety test cut July 21 and 22. The grain sorghum variety test on the Frank Kratochvil and Ed Jekel farms have been harvested.

The ACCO 1090 variety at the Kratochvil test was highest with an adjusted of 4228 pounds of grain per acre. The 13 test varieties at the Kratochvil farm averaged 3944 pounds of grain per acre.

These yields were adjusted to 13% moisture.

At the Ed Jekel farm, Pioneer 846 topped all the Pioneer varieties with a yield of 5501 lbs of grain per acre, adjusted to 13% moisture.

The eight Pioneer varieties at the Jekel farm averaged 4755 lbs of grain per acre.

Hearing Set On Hog Lot Regulations

Commercial hog lots located near public flowing streams or surface water supplies will be placed under regulation in the near future by the Texas Water Quality Board.

Notice of public hearing has been published in 12 daily newspapers across the state. The hearing is set for 10 a.m., August 4, at the Terrace Motor Hotel in Austin.

Also, any swine producing operation may be required to comply with regulations if it is located over a sensitive groundwater area where seepage may cause contamination of wells or other water supply in the neighborhood.

Hog farms are subject to regulation if they cause a nuisance or appreciable damage to public waters in the state.

The regulation does not apply to small-farm hog producers unless they are endangering some public water supply. It is primarily written to cover units with 50 or more breeding animals. Five hundred pigs under 50 pounds would also be under regulation.

Anyone interested in receiving a copy of the proposed regulation can get one by writing to the Texas Water Quality Board, 1108 Lavaca, Austin, Texas 78701. All concerned are invited to write their comments to the Board, or to appear and testify at the hearing.

No restrictions on use of 2-4-D is not a recommended cotton defoliant, there are no restrictions on its use in Bell and Milam Counties August 25 through October 31.

The date for its use without restrictions in Williamson County is August 25 to October 31, according to John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture at Austin.

Committee Approves Farm Bill

The House Committee on Agriculture last week approved by a 27 to 6 vote H. R. 18546, a three-year general farm bill to replace the 1965 Food and Agriculture Act which expires at the end of this year.

Before taking final action on the legislation the Committee by voice vote adopted an amendment which would place a $55,000 limitation on the amount of price support payments which could be made on any one crop. Wheat, feed grains and cotton are involved.

Committee Chairman W. R. Poage, who jointly sponsored the bill with Rep. Page Belcher, the ranking minority member of the Committee, read to his colleagues a letter he had just received from Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin expressing his support for the $55,000 limitation.

The Chairman also pointed to information received during the morning from the Department of Agriculture disclosing that based on 1969 payments, only two farmers in the entire United States would have qualified for the top $55,000 payment for all three crops. Only 37 would have qualified for top payments under two of the crops.

While there had been strong opposition by many committee members to any payment limitations when the farm bill studies began, the majority gradually became convinced that adoption of some degree of limitations was inevitable when the legislation goes to the House Floor, where, on two previous occasions limitations have been voted by the House and once by the Senate. House action on the farm bill possibly may come this week said Congressman Poage, who observed it must first be cleared by the House Rules Committee.

Seedless Melons For Easy Eating

AUSTIN
 All the work has been taken out of eating watermelon this summer with the introduction of two new seedless varieties recently announced by Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White.

Seedless watermelons are rapidly gaining favor with consumers because of the extra-sweet and flavorful quality of the melons. The fruit is medium-sized, with a good textured, sweet meat. As in other "seedless" fruits, the undeveloped seeds are there but are edible, actually tasteless. An added advantage of this melon is an extended shelf life.

The chemical "Colchicine," discovered in 1937 by Dr. O. J. Elgisi, is responsible for the genetic change that produces a seedless melon such as the two new varieties, "Tri-X 318" and "Supersweet." It has only been until recently that seedless melons have been developed which are consistent in quality and which can be commercially produced and marketed.

The seedless melons are found in food stores and cafeterias promoted in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) program of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Commissioner White said Department of Agriculture marketing specialists anticipate a strong consumer reception.

Kubiak is a former member of the Future Farmers of America and has maintained a strong interest in this and other youth organizations for many years.

'Set-Aside' Acreage In Committee Approved Bill

WASHINGTON

The House Committee on Agriculture agreed Tuesday on terms of a bill to be introduced authorizing a new three-year farm program for dairy, wool, wheat, feed grain and cotton producers. It applies to 1971, 1972 and 1973 crops.

Designated the "Agricultural Act of 1970," the new farm measure would become effective on the expiration of the existing "Food and Agriculture Act of 1965," at the end of this year.

Differing from the present law principally in that it establishes an acreage "set-aside" requirement to keep production in approximate line with consumption, the new program would cost about the same as the 1965 Act, a little over $3 billion a year. Bipartisan efforts marked consideration of this legislation. Committee Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., and Rep. Page Belcher, R-Okla., ranking Minority member of the committee, will jointly introduce a bill embodying the provisions in the draft just agreed upon today.

Generally, under the 1965 Act, a grain or cotton producer, to comply with the program and thus become eligible for payments, must limit his production to an allotted number of acres, lest he be subject either to penalties or be denied the benefits of the program. Under the Agricultural Act of 1970 there would be no marketing quota penalties but a producer would be required to "set-aside" or divert acreage equal to a fixed percentage of his acreage allotment. If he complies he then is eligible for loans and payments based on the estimated yield of his allotted acres, and additionally he may plant the remainder of his farm in any crop he chooses for sale at supplemental payments.

Another change in the proposed program from the present law pertains to implementation of the parity formula which is designed to give producers a fair return for their investment in time, labor and money — a return commensurate with the cost of the items that go into production and living expenses for farmers.

While the parity concept is retained, only in the wheat program would payments continue to increase or decrease as the general cost of production rises or falls. In the case of feed grain and cotton parity is still recognized but supports are tied to specific dollars and cents figures except in regard to non-recourse grain loans which will still be some percent of parity.

Under the provisions relating to feed grains, producers would be guaranteed a minimum payment of 32 cents per bushel for corn (with comparable rates for grain sorghums and barley) on fifty percent of their historic acreage regardless of the market price during the three year life of the Act. Likewise, during this period cotton growers would receive a guaranteed 15-cent-a-pound payment on their share of the production from a base of 11,500,000 acres. Additional payments would be made if necessary to assure an overall return of $1.35 per bushel on corn and 35 cents a pound on cotton.

"We want to provide an effective means whereby all members of the House may get on the record on this issue, and that is why we plan to offer a committee amendment providing limitations, and have it available for a separate record vote."

During the hearings on the legislation the committee received testimony from all the major farm organizations and many smaller ones, from those with broad agricultural interests and those representing specific commodities.

While wheat, feed grains and cotton are the principal commodities involved, the bill also extends the Wool Act, continuing the present incentive price of 72 cents per pound for shorn wool and 80.2 cents per pound for mohair. It contains provisions extending and amending the authority for the Dairyman's Class I Base Plan in federal marketing order areas, specifically guaranteeing competitive access to Class I Base Plan markets established by producers outside the market order area. It suspends the operation of the mandatory butterfat price support program for farm-segregated cream and permits the Secretary to set lower support prices on butter. The Secretary's authority to make indemnity payments to dairy farmers who through no fault of their own have their milk contaminated by and condemned because of the presence of pesticides and residues is also extended. Another part of the bill extends the law (P. L. 480) authorizing donations and sales of farm commodities to foreign nations on long-term arrangements, to so-called Food for Peace Program.

It was brought out during hearings in the event the 1965 Act should expire without a new measure being enacted, the basic 1938 and 1949 Acts, as amended, automatically would once again become effective. Acreage allotments and marketing quotas would go back into effect on wheat and cotton. Commodity payments would end on feed grains, wheat, cotton and wool.

Price support would be provided only through non-recourse loans and purchases by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Farm income would crop substantially.

Tobacco, sugar and rice programs are authorized under legislation dealing with those commodities separately and are not substantially affected by the measure the committee has just approved.

The committee earlier had agreed to separate the Food Stamp program from the agricultural provisions, so that it may be brought up in a bill by itself for consideration after the farm bill is passed.

A summary of the newly-approved legislation, with Title I language omitted may be obtained on request by writing to the Committee Clerk, Mrs. Christine S. Gallagher, House Committee on Agriculture, Room 1301 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20-515.

OCCUPATIONS OF MOTHERS
 Occupations of working mothers are generally similar to those of all women workers. Among every 100 working mothers with husband present, 32 are clerical workers, 21 service workers, 18 factory operatives, 14 professional workers, 7 sales workers, and 6 in other occupations.

SCS NEWS

Cooperators and landowners who plan to use 245-T for brush or weed control should take precautions before and when using this chemical.

Federal registration for use of 245-T has been cancelled for use on non-agricultural land. Use of this chemical for control of brush or weeds on pastureland or rights-of-way on agricultural land is not eliminated.

Landowners should follow all restrictions and regulations when controlling brush or weeds with 245-T.

Kerosene will usually kill all above ground growth of mesquite. The mesquite has underground buds for a depth of 4 to 6 inches below the surface. The underground buds must be killed or resprout of mesquite will occur.

When treating mesquite with kerosene it would be more effective if 245-T was mixed with it.

Brush to be treated with chemicals should be in full leaf stage with the temperature at least 80 degrees or above for the best results.

Additional information on the use of chemicals for brush and weed control is available through your local Soil Conservation Service office.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Worm and jig fishing have grown in popularity during the last several years, but there are many anglers who still like to use top-water lures for bass.

Today there is a lake especially built for topwater users. It is Amistad—created by a dam across the Rio Grande 18 miles north of Del Rio. There you can fish either in Texas or Old Mexico.

This is one of the fine new lakes which is a product of the International Boundary Commission.

Loss Lots of Lures
 Much of the area cannot be fished with lures that run very deep. That is if you expect to get the lures back.

This lake covers thousands of acres of mesquite, catclaw, huisache and black brush, to say nothing of yucca, prickly pear and other tough vegetation. When you hang a lure in stuff like that it stays and you might as well forget it.

Amistad has come along fast as a bass lake. This mainly because at the lower end where Devil's River flows into it, there already were two older lakes—Walk Lake and Devil's Lake.

Both had been stocked with bass for years. When the new overlapping Lake Amistad formed, encompassing both of them, those bass were already man-size.

In addition, the Parks and Wildlife Department has been stocking Amistad ever since the dam was started and those bass are now catchable size.

Buoys Aid Boaters
 Amistad also has other unusual features for a Texas impoundment. It is a lake where the previous stream beds all are marked with buoys. This makes it possible for a boater to keep on course either in going upstream on the main body of water or going downstream. Also, they help in locating and pinpointing good coves and inlets. Not only do these buoys mark the stream, but they also serve as boundary markers between the United States and Mexico.

Another feature of Amistad is its beautiful high-walled canyons in the upper reaches. Amistad now is only about two-thirds filled, but when it reaches conservation level, it will have some 300 feet of water around those canyon walls.

Since Del Rio is an old established town, its prices are in line with what you'd pay anywhere else. There are also several good guides available and good bass fishing boats.

Del Rio offers tourists more than just fishing in Amistad. There's also that international flavor. You can fish either in Texas or Old Mexico and go across the border for your night out. Ciudad Acuna is on the other side of the Rio Grande from Del Rio and it provides some of the best night spots along the entire Mexican border.

Information on Amistad and the other attractions can be had from the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, which offers free maps and motel lists.

Globetrot With Rice

So much of today's entertaining centers around international party themes. And the perfect companion for so many dishes with foreign intrigue is rice. It's served in countries all around the world and it's a great go-with food.

For a rice dish with Mexican accents, you can simply cook rice with beef bouillon, onion, and chili accents. Just before serving toss it with diced avocado and pimiento.

The secret to the success of the dish is specially processed Uncle Ben's CONVERTED® Rice, which when cooked according to package directions results in perfect non-sticky rice every time you prepare it. The special process also assures you that you're getting twice the level of natural B vitamins.

Following is the recipe for Acapulco Rice, a great accompaniment to barbecued hamburgers, spit roasted beef or baked ham.

ACAPULCO RICE

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1/2 cup chopped green onion                                    | 1 cup UNCLE BEN'S CON-VERTED® Rice      |
| 1 tablespoon butter  | 1 ripe avocado, peeled,pitted and cubed |
| 1 can beef bouillon pluswater to make 2 1/2 cupsliquid | 1 jar (2 oz.) diced pimiento                |
| 1/4 teaspoon EACH chilipowder and celery seed              |   |

Cook onions in melted butter in a saucepan until soft. Add bouillon and water and heat to boiling. Stir in chili powder, celery seed and rice. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender, about 25 minutes. Mix in avocado and pimiento. Serve hot.

Makes 6 servings.

Bentsen

Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic Nominee for the U. S. Senate, is urging the North Vietnamese Government to reveal the identity of American prisoners of war and to permit free exchange of mail between them and their families.

He wrote a letter to Ton Duc Thang, President of North Vietnam, after conferring in Dallas with Mrs. Robert D. Jeffrey and Mrs. Jerry A. Singleton, both of Dallas, and Mrs. Samuel R. Johnson of Plano.

Their husbands have been missing for more than four years and they expressed hope that North Vietnamese leaders might react favorably to American public opinion concerning prisoners of war.

Bentsen, a bomber pilot who was shot down over Yugoslavia during World War II, said he is deeply concerned about the prison conditions which American prisoners of war must endure. He also opposes any policy "which would result in our withdrawing from Vietnam before adequate provisions are made for liberating our prisoners of war."

He further stated in the letter: "Surely you can imagine the agony and distress, not to mention the personal problems, which have arisen among the wives, parents and children of these men -- men who can be of no further military value."

"These young women and innocent children should not have to bear the heartache of not even being sure their husbands and fathers are dead or alive. Surely you don't intend to burden these families with the uncertainty and heartbreak which accompanies their daily lives."

"Naturally, we in the United States hope and pray that current hostilities will soon be ended, that all prisoners of war will be released, and peace will prevail in Vietnam. Until that time I appeal to you to identify prisoners being held and to permit the free exchange of mail between families and prisoners."

More than 1500 American servicemen are missing in Southeast Asia and believed to be prisoners of war.

Campus disorder must be dealt with firmly.

In my view, violence in any form, in any degree, is not a legitimate expression of protest in our society. And it is particularly out of place in the colleges and universities that are supposed to be training young people to be informed, useful citizens.

I think that primary responsibility for handling campus unrest rests on the local rather than the federal level -- with the college and high school administrators who have a plain duty to enforce the regulations of their institutions. After all, the schools and colleges are not privileged sanctuaries outside the rest of society.

By failing to protect order, permissive faculties and administrators allow everyone's freedom to be destroyed. When violent minorities try to force their views on the majority, they should be expelled at once.

I don't think we need new federal laws cutting off funds or massive federal intervention to keep order. What we do need are administrators with intelligence and the fortitude to meet the problem head-on.

The reason for enforcing the rules is that the lawless few are violating a basic right of the law-abiding many -- the right to receive the education they are paying and working for. In my view, if an individual is getting federal funds to help him get educated, he should live within the laws of the state and of the university. I don't want our tax money financing revolutionaries.

I was one of 22 Congressmen who recently visited with students, faculty and administrators on more than 50 campuses around the country. We asked a lot of questions and we did a lot of hard listening. Six of us reported our findings directly to the President.

As a result of our visits, we were both alarmed and encouraged. Alarmed, because we found that the problem of campus disorder is far deeper and more urgent than most citizens realize. Encouraged, by the candor, sincerity, and basic decency of the vast majority of the students we met.

Many of them were surprised by the fact that we cared enough to come and talk with them. But we did discover that young people are certainly no different from older people in one important respect: they want to be in touch with the people whose decisions touch their lives.

In our state, I'm proud to say, I found the students I talked with especially open and earnest and intelligent. They want to improve their schools and their communities and the world they'll soon be working and living in. They want change, but the majority want constructive change, not destructive disorder. We must have my

How very frightening is the implication that Texas' Welfare Budget of over two billion dollars is not really sufficient for the 1972-73 biennium!

There is clamor now to appropriate money "according to need" with no price tags attached....

This would, of course, require total and permanent removal of our constitutional limit on state funds for welfare use. While there is no way of predicting just where removal of the ceiling might lead us, a look at recent history in the matter gives us an indication.

The indication is not encouraging. Only last year we voted to raise the ceiling by a full thirty three and one-third percent and already the budget requests have more than doubled!

Ben Barnes told his Senate Interim Committee on Welfare Reform this week that its request for removal of the ceiling was "commendable" and he predicted that the Senate would vote to remove the ceiling, although he guessed the House still favors keeping aid on welfare.

I say "Hooray" for the House!

There has got to be a limit of some kind on welfare spending because there is a limit as to how generous our state and federal governments can be with our money -- yours and mine.

Without an effective limit there can be no effective control on welfare spending.

Texas and adjoining states.

"When he contacted me in Cameron he told of his disappointment at not finding the wild west he had expected. He had driven through miles of cultivated, rolling plains and prairies instead of the buffalo, Indian and cowboy land he had come to see." Parma suggested he keep traveling westward, "he might see some Indians in a circus sideshow."

The park sign was built in June 1922 after the Commercial Club appropriated $30 for materials. Roman Parma constructed the overhead entrance sign and J. T. Parma painted and lettered it.

"The sign brightened the park's future," Parma said. Citizens saw that the park could be used as recreation grounds."

In the 1930's the swimming pool was built and permanent buildings were constructed for local associations under a federal government program. Scout groups have had clean-up and beautification programs at their sites, but the Lions Club drive is the first major effort to be made for the Park since the Commercial Club's interest in 1922.

Roberts-Eanes Vows Repeated In Beeville

The marriage of Miss Marilyn Sue Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Roberts of Beeville, and John Philp Eanes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Philp Eanes of 102 14th Street, Cameron, was held in the First Baptist Church in Beeville, Saturday, July 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. B. C. Brown officiated in the double ring ceremony before a rostrum decoration of white gladioli and lighted candles.

Mrs. B. C. Brown, Organist played the organ music and David Blanton when he sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of silk organza with an Empire bodice, jeweled neckline and puffed sleeves. Schiffl embroidered flowers accented the bodice and front of the skirt which ended in a chapel length train.

Her tiered veil of illusion was held by a spray of jeweled flowers, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a fuchsia-throated orchid.

Mrs. Kennon Fullen of Luling was matron of honor, and the bride's two sisters, Carolyn Roberts and Kathy Roberts were bridesmaids. They wore floor length dresses of pink and white and carried white baskets filled with pink and white flowers.

Mike Wonsik of San Antonio was best man; groomsmen were Raymond Batla and Dennis Voges of Austin. Ushers were Kennen Fulk, Robert Woodum of Cameron and Jim Eanes of Rockdale.

A reception was held in the Goss Hall at the church.

Following a wedding trip to Monterey, Mexico, the couple will live in Rockdale where the

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

... THE BAR OF JUSTICE IN MY COURT.

"Man must pay for the error he makes. the sin he commits... he must reap what he sows." Surely God tempers justice with mercy in His judgments upon us every day. It is that way too, in this judge's court, because he thinks principally of salvation for the man before him. Too often transgressors, both young and old, resent the kindly-intended judge. He sits in court to serve his country and the will of God. It would be well to remember that God shall bring every work into judgment. And that people who go to church more, go to court less.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Be Strong in the FAITH and Regular in ATTENDANCE at your FAVORITE CHURCH

Here I am, Buffy Davis of TV's "A Family Affair" waiting for the dancing class to begin. I don't think much of the boys they've got here, but I absolutely love my new dancing dress. It's by Cinderella and it's a red cotton velvet with a smocked top and a dirndl skirt that swirls when I do the waltz. I like the little puffed sleeves, too, because they're so comfortable and I can move easily in them. My mom says I go to dancing class to learn how to be graceful, but, personally, I'd rather go swimming!

Those visiting in the home of Mrs. Fritz Glaser during the weekend were Mr. Robert Glaser from Cameron on Saturday and Sunday afternoon Johnnie Glaser from Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jungmann, Mrs. Evelyn House and daughters and Arnold Glaser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ruzicka of Bakersfield, California have returned home after spending some time here visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dudik and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruzicka.

There was a nice group from the Baptist church to attend the James Robison Crusade in Temple Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vince Ward from Houston visited Mr. and Mrs. Orba Arnold last week before he was taken back to the hospital.

Mrs. Will Merchak of Rogers is out of the hospital and is staying with her son-in-law and daughter, the W. E. Beckhusens until she is able to be up and around.

Mrs. Claude Hodges of Santa Anna is spending the week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garey.

Home loans should be easier to obtain, and in some cases at lower rates since Congress authorized savings and loan associations to convert $6.6 billion into a new loan fund.

Bench Dreary? Set In Planters

A long bench is valuable extra seating along any deck or patio, but can seem a monotonous stretch when empty.

One good solution is to insert short planter sections built of western cedar between benches and plant them with low growing greenery.

Continuity is not broken if the top of the planter sections are the same height as the benches. The sections are easily handled if wooden planter "trays" are set in flush with bench tops.

Turkey Barbecue Gives 'Leo' Chance To Shine

This summer follow the stars with a backyard barbecue. The month of August is the zodiacal sign of Leo and it is also the month for Texas Summertime Turkey, according to John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture.

Turkey is great on the grill or rotisserie and yet is an economical meat due to little fat and no waste. . . offering delectable eating.

A noble and proud nature is characteristic of Leo the Lionhearted; thus, every outdoor chef takes pride in grilling the meat for his den members; so, let the "Leo" in you life grill Texas Turkey in His outdoor kitchen.

The majority of turkeys are sold frozen and fresh chilled, ranging anywhere from 8-24 pounds, though in some areas turkey parts such as legs, wings, and breasts, are also available. When buying whole ready-to-cook turkeys under 12 pounds, allow 3/4 - 1 lb. per serving; for larger birds allow 1/2 - 3/4 lb. per serving. A good tip to remember is, the larger the bird the more meat in proportion to bone; consequently the better buy.

In the event you do not have a rotisserie, turkey may be cooked on a grill (either bought or home-made). . . use what is available!

Line bottom of grill with heavy foil for easier cleaning. Start the fire far enough in advance prior to cooking time. For faster starting use a No. 101 can (or any large can) with the top and bottom removed. Punch holes on sides one-inch above bottom of can. Place can in center of fire bowl and fill with briquettes and soak with charcoal lighting fluid.

Let soak one minute then ignite. When briquettes appear ash gray, simply remove can with pliers or tongs and spread hot coals evenly over cooking area. For extra smoke flavor use wood chips such as hickory, oak and apple that are pre-soaked in water to prevent burning.

There is no substitute for a meat thermometer; but the traditional doneness "test" by many experienced cooks is a "feel test." Turkey is done when the thickest part of the drum sticks feel very soft when pressed and move easily up and down as the joint readily gives or breaks.

Most turkeys sold at the retail level are young (3-6 months) and are suitable for dry heat cookery such as grilling.

The meat cookery principle - to use low moderate temperatures for best results - applies to outdoor meat cookery as well as indoors. Cooking time will vary depending on several factors: kind, size and shape of meat; temperature; equipment used; degrees of doneness; distance of meat from heat source.

For cooking turkey on the rotisserie insert spit rod lengthwise through center and secure and check the balance so spit will rotate smoothly. Brush with melted butter or fat to give pretty brown appearance and to prevent drying out. Follow manufacturer's directions for setting the temperature. Remember the longer and slower you cook the meat the juicier it will be.

Formal service is unimportant as long as the generous Leo feels he is getting the best. Harmony in Leo's homelife is essential for health as he needs a place to relax with friends. A Texas Turkey Barbecue offers fun and relaxing with friends and supports his manly ego as the "world's greatest outdoor chef."

TEXAS BARBECUE TURKEY

Allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. of boneless meat per person to be served. Marinate turkey in "Western Barbecue Sauce" for 2 hours. About 30 minutes before you are ready to start cooking, light fire. When coals are ready, spread turkey breast on grill, skin-side up.

Grill should be 8 inches or more from hot coals. Barbecue for 30 minutes, then turn and cook for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with marinade. Turn again and continue barbecuing until done. Total time will be about 1 1/2 hours.

Remove turkey from grill and place in remaining marinade, which had been heated until hot, but not boiling. Cover with aluminum foil and let stand for 20 to 30 minutes. Remove from marinade and carve into thin slices. Arrange on serving plate and pour a little of the hot marinade over all. The remaining marinade may be passed separately to spoon over turkey or rice, if desired.

TP&L To Conduct Transformer Count In Cameron Area

Texas Power & Light Company announced it will soon conduct a transformer inventory in the Cameron area.

TP&L crews will count, pinpoint exact locations, and record technical data on the transformers. The transformers are usually located in alleys or other out-of-the-way areas.

Results of the inventory will be tabulated in the Company's data processing center at its Dallas headquarters for use by various departments of TP&L.

TSA Predicts 'Bloodbath' On 1980 Texas Highways

"Texas is headed for a bloodbath of unbelievable proportions on her streets and highways in the year 1980," Lloyd F. Palmer, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, said today.

Palmer, releasing a projection of current traffic crash trends into the next decade, said, "In the year 1980, more than 5,300 Texans will lose their lives and 330,000 others will be wounded in traffic crashes. The economic loss from these needless accidents will probably top $2.3 billion."

"These predictions need not come true if the right action is taken during the next 12 months. Any delay beyond that time can make these forecasts horrible realities. It took Texas 30 years to get into the shape she is in today, and instant improvement is impossible. We must start corrective action today if the 1980 bloodbath is to be avoided," warned Palmer.

The president of the statewide safety organization, George Wm. Perry, a Dallas attorney, called on every Texan to take a good look at the predictions. "TSA is not 'Crying Wolf'; the predictions are on the conservative side," said Perry. He outlined a list of positive actions which can turn the tide from death to life.

Among the priority issues Perry emphasized was the removal of the problem drinker from the state's highways as recently stressed by Governor Smith at a meeting of his staff.

LS Gas Aids Fish Studies

Lone Star Gas Company and its subsidiary, Nipak, Inc., are jointly sponsoring a Fisheries Management Studies Program, with the Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M.

The study involves the testing of anhydrous ammonia as a toxicant to kill rough fish in ponds. Since ammonia dissipates it is believed to be superior to certain insecticides which are currently used to clear ponds of rough fish.

Ammonia, when blended with other fertilizer products, also has the added advantage of contributing to plankton growth (a basic element in the underwater food chain).

Vice presidents, Glen Covington and Neal Hall, and Nipak's Director of Marketing, Jim Duntun, recently presented a $5,000 check to Dr. John Hutchison, Director of Texas A&M Extension Service and Wallace Klusman, Extension Wildlife Specialist, in Dr. Hutchison's office at Texas A&M.

Aside from the $5,000 check, the company will give up to $5,000 of fertilizer and fertilizer related products, as needed.

fic safety committee of which Perry is a member.

The state safety leader pointed to a Texas study which showed more than 50 per cent of the fatal crashes studied involved intoxicated drivers.

"The Texas Safety Association is . . . from Page 1 . . . concerned about those persons who use drugs that impair reactions and drive," he said.

Perry said that these persons must be identified and be kept off the highways because of the dangers they present to themselves and to others.

The TSA president also said that education was important to cutting the bloodbath predictions. He said more moves must be made to insure that every driver in Texas is properly trained. "High School Driver Education now reaches about 68 per cent of the eligible students in Texas," said Perry.

"It should be made available to every student. And education should not stop in high school. Adult driver re-education programs should also be instituted," according to the safety leader.

HIGHWAY USE TAX DUE BY AUGUST 31

Highway vehicle owners or operators were reminded today by the Internal Revenue Service of the deadline of August 31, 1970 for paying the Federal Use Tax on motor vehicles used on the public highways.

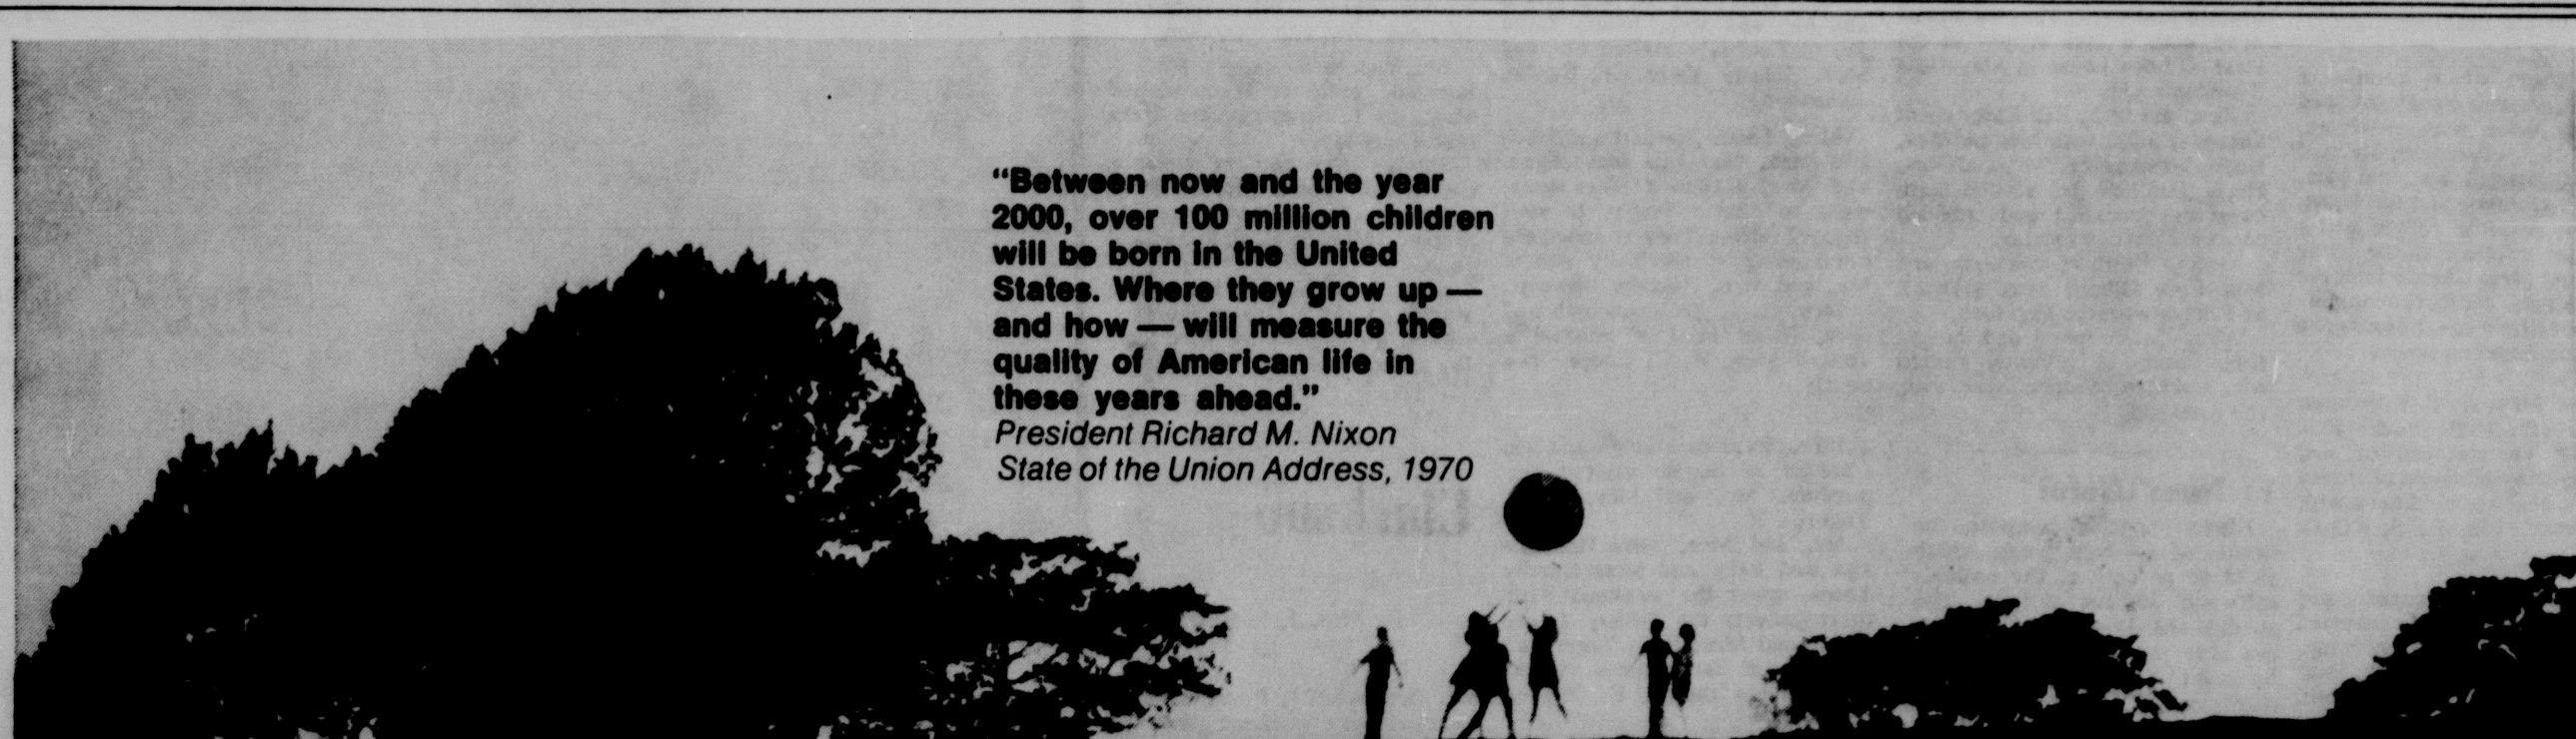

This tax applies to most trucks and buses in operation in July of this year and covers the tax year beginning July 1, according to R. L. Phinney, IRS District Director for southern Texas.

RURAL HOUSING LOANS IN TEXAS SHOWING INCREASE

AUSTIN - Rural families are moving into new or improved homes at a 17.4 per cent faster rate than a year ago. The Farmers Home Administration has announced that in the first nine months of fiscal 1970, the agency approved 43,748 home ownership loans totaling $465.4 million as against 37,277 loans totaling $360.7 million in the same period a year earlier.

On a nation wide basis, loans for new one-family homes under the rural program exceeded 25,000 through March, equaling the number approved for the entire fiscal year 1969. This is in contrast to a decline of 15.3 per cent in new home starts in the nation for the same nine-month period.

In Texas, rural housing loans made through the Farmers Home Administration during the previous fiscal year totaled approximately $36 million.

"Between now and the year 2000, over 100 million children will be born in the United States. Where they grow up — and how — will measure the quality of American life in these years ahead."

President Richard M. Nixon
State of the Union Address, 1970

Some will be reared in urban areas, others in the country. It is hoped all will grow up in the spirit of self worth and freedom rather than in the spirit of despair. The environment—the world around us—is a key factor in their development. The future quality of life in America must be a vital concern to all Americans.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Alcoholism in the U.S.

Half of the 55,000 persons killed on our highways last year were victims of accidents involving alcohol, according to recent reports.

This figure serves to highlight the problem of alcoholism, a prime concern of many health agencies, including the National Institute of Mental Health, and a problem disease that numbers 4.7 million or more American adults as its victims.

A survey of American drinking practices, by George Washington University scientists supported by the NIMH, has come up with illuminating information. It shows, for example, that the drinking of alcoholic beverages is typical rather than unusual behavior in America.

Some 78 million adults drink at least once a year, or about 68 percent of the adult U.S. population which was 115 million in 1965. But the nearly 5 million who abuse alcohol to the point at which they can be called alcoholics make up the core problem.

They are men and women, young and old, educated as well as uneducated, city dwellers and small towners and country people. Judging by those who appear for help at hospitals and clinics, we know that the disease of alcoholism strikes across every class and category of people and respects no race, color, nor creed.

But there is great variety in the basic behavior of drinking, considered totally and not merely among alcoholics alone.

Physicians think that the vast majority of alcoholics are made, not born. The drinking of alcohol is a behavior that is learned, although physiological processes play significant roles and may exert decisive influences in some cases.
